

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million (1990–1999) (Office of National Statistics 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people in the community. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out the government's commitment to older people and the actions that will be taken to improve their lives. The strategy is based on the principle that older people should be able to live independently, safely and with dignity. It sets out a range of actions that will be taken to improve the lives of older people, including: improving the quality of care and support for older people; improving the health and well-being of older people; and improving the opportunities for older people to participate in society.

The strategy also sets out a range of actions that will be taken to improve the lives of older people in the community. These include: improving the quality of care and support for older people; improving the health and well-being of older people; and improving the opportunities for older people to participate in society. The strategy is based on the principle that older people should be able to live independently, safely and with dignity.

The strategy is based on the principle that older people should be able to live independently, safely and with dignity. It sets out a range of actions that will be taken to improve the lives of older people, including: improving the quality of care and support for older people; improving the health and well-being of older people; and improving the opportunities for older people to participate in society. The strategy is based on the principle that older people should be able to live independently, safely and with dignity.

The strategy is based on the principle that older people should be able to live independently, safely and with dignity. It sets out a range of actions that will be taken to improve the lives of older people, including: improving the quality of care and support for older people; improving the health and well-being of older people; and improving the opportunities for older people to participate in society. The strategy is based on the principle that older people should be able to live independently, safely and with dignity.

The strategy is based on the principle that older people should be able to live independently, safely and with dignity. It sets out a range of actions that will be taken to improve the lives of older people, including: improving the quality of care and support for older people; improving the health and well-being of older people; and improving the opportunities for older people to participate in society. The strategy is based on the principle that older people should be able to live independently, safely and with dignity.

The strategy is based on the principle that older people should be able to live independently, safely and with dignity. It sets out a range of actions that will be taken to improve the lives of older people, including: improving the quality of care and support for older people; improving the health and well-being of older people; and improving the opportunities for older people to participate in society. The strategy is based on the principle that older people should be able to live independently, safely and with dignity.

Caught Up in the

Gold Rush

1980-81 Shield

Volume 12
Northridge High School
13515 County Rd. 18
Middlebury, IN 46540
Phone (219) 825-2142

Caught Up in the Gold Rush

It started quietly, almost like the tremor before the earthquake. But it built rapidly. It took possession of people and sent them stampeding toward the west coast. The mere mention of the word filled the air with a nervous excitement and made people tremble . . . gold.

The 1849 gold rush had begun, and there was no stopping it. People contracted "the fever," and it was highly contagious. Anyone who hesitated was swept along with all the rest. They were all caught up in the gold rush.

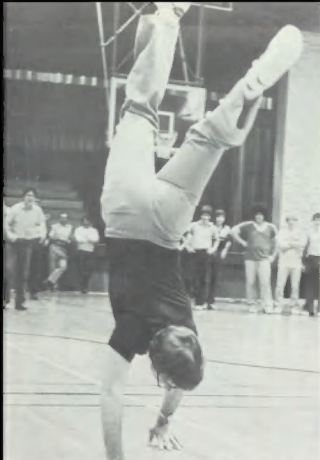

One reason there is sometimes no toilet paper in the restrooms is that it is being used for other purposes. Mrs. Linda Kaminski found her two-peeped office as humorous as those responsible.

Performing a half time routine to "Spirit of Spain" is Kim Kurtz.

Some teachers recall paying only 30 or 40 dollars for a class ring. Now most are well into the hundreds. Yet because they're such a big part of being a sophomore, students like Kyle Roegner still shell out for them.

One of the competitions during Spirit Week was to see who could walk on their hands the farthest. Senior Corey O'Dell won this one hands down.

Entertaining half time audiences is the job of the auxiliary. Moustache and all, co-captain Paula Wallace dances to "Twelfth Street Rag."

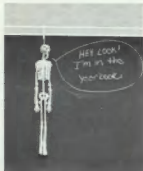

Brazilian exchange student Anne Pena does some housework in the library. Upon returning home, she hopes to some day become a veterinarian.

Creativity has not died out. Tactfully placed styrofoam cups surprised and pleased many football fans.

Concentration is displayed by senior Stacey Ysler when rehearsing for a half time performance.

Everyone wants to get into the act. No, not a student who failed to complete an assignment, just the little fellow that hangs around Miss Mary Zimmer's room.

Ravioli is a popular item in the ala-carte line. Donna Smith receives hers as Marcy Troyer still tries to make up her mind.

Careful not to spill any water, Janet Hostetler empties her cup into Chris Buckett's during the Bucket Brigade.

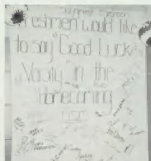

Gold Fever

Now, over a century later, the fever has taken possession of the 863 students who crowd the halls of the 12-year old school building. It envelops them with a determination to do their best, like the time the band marched on to a first division rating at the state competition. It motivates faculty, as well as students, to become involved; like the time they defeated the WRBR Golden Gunners by two points. It fills the air with a spirit and excitement that has the power to make rival schools tremble; like the time the boys' varsity basketball team came back to defeat the Goshen Redskins after losing to them in the first game of the season, and walked away with the holiday tourney trophy.

The fever is still contagious. Those who falter still get swept up in the whirlwind. And there's still no cure for it. After panning for, and finding that first gold nugget, silver and bronze are not as precious. That's why everyone is still caught up in the gold rush.

In the spirit week's attempt to get the football team fired up, freshmen offered their good luck wishes by signing a poster.

Movies are a welcome break from lectures for the teacher as well as the students. Mr. Don Lanchot prepares to show one to his freshmen class.

The First War over the mud was won by the team of seniors. The entire student body assembled outside to watch the contest.

Seniors Dana Hines and Tim Diehlbeck made a team as they reach for the ball in the yellow basketball.

Excitement grows as Jeff Miller (better known as "Spartan") and Lisa Pratt race in the Wagon Race.

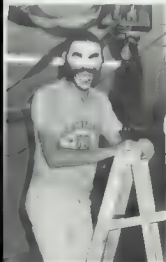

Teams in find the pathless. Azadullah Khosro, disguised with Doug Penry's help, helping the seniors place third in this event.

He is just being invaded by students just Dennis Graber showing his spirit.

The final reward for a long week of fun and games is a student showing Stalack's love. The class "put in there" was appropriately placed by the Senior "Roadside" as Spirit Week came to a close.

Catching that Raider Spirit

What is spirit? Is it the pom poms waved frantically by students cheering the team on? Is it the pyramids built by that lively booster club? Or maybe the students joining in with the band for the school song? Spirit really is all of the above plus much more. You can't explain it by things done — only the feelings felt.

Feelings of spirit grew each day as class competitions encouraged students to participate in the Bucket Brigade, Wagon Race, Tag-of-War, Piggyback Basketball, and the class hall decorations. Each team had their share of experiences, such as when the handlebars came off the sophomore's tricycle, the "successful" method used by Curtis Stump and Jay Kauffman in the Wagon Race contributing to the junior's losing effort, and the sore shoulders of the boys supporting the girls in Piggyback Basketball.

Despite the final tally of points revealing that the sophomores had won, each class enjoyed the activities and helped Northridge become "caught up" in the spirit for the fall football Homecoming.

You can't see his real expression but Paul Yowell must be having fun as he helps the seniors receive a first place in hall decorations.

Exuberance is an outstanding feature of Homecoming games as shown by the spirit line.

Mr. Dan Shroyer collects votes from Cindy Ferry and Tim Weaver.

Some New Additions to an Old Tradition

Homecoming this year was a new experience for all involved. Plans were cancelled and a new way to show spirit was found. Each class decorated a hall to suggest a holiday. The senior theme, which won, was Halloween, followed by the juniors who's theme was Valentine's Day. The sophomores who chose Thanksgiving, and the freshmen who had Christmas. The hall by the gym was done by everyone. Class competition was also involved during Spirit Week through activities organized by Joe Sanford and Dexter Prough, along with the help of Mr. Dan Shroyer, Mr. McCormick, Mr. Stahley, and many of the members of the Student Council. The win over Bronson 21-0 and the choice of Susie Adamson as queen put a great end to the week.

Homecoming queen Susie Adamson takes a moment to rest after the excitement of being crowned.

Queen contestants Ann Eideg, Linda Kniffman, Mary Yoder, and Susan Adamson stand with Kris Harper, junior. Durlene Norman, sophomore, and Cindy Yoder, freshman,
members of the queen's court.

Dribblet show on the face of Susan Adamson while performing in the theme of haremcat, left corner.

Teachers can get hooked too, as shown by Don Lapoint, Mary Zimmer, and Lynn Thomas

Steph Smith fulfills her junk food needs by visiting the school snack machine

Yahoor! It's Twinkie the Kid! This Twinkie® will fill someone's face with pure bliss!

Hooked on a Habit

One of America's biggest habits is one found in all classes. It is a habit of both the rich and the poor, young and old, male and female. Although this habit can be dangerous, it is not illegal. What is it? Eating junk food, of course!

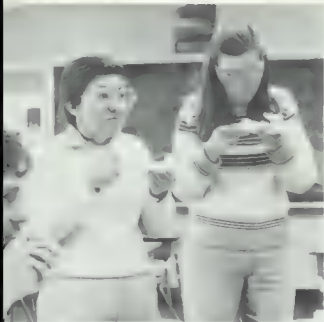

No matter where a person goes in today's world, junk foods are right with him. Potato chips, pretzels, corn chips, crackers, and tortilla chips are all junk foods. However, the junk foods that people consume the greatest amount of are those with sugar. Americans especially have a sweet tooth, as seen by the number of people who walk down the halls at school eating cookies and drinking pop.

One of the greatest attractions of the school cafeteria is its chocolate-chip cookies. Students and teachers alike swarm the cafeteria, both before and after lunch, hoping for some cookies before going back to class. After school, the center of attention is the concession room where students can buy candy bars, potato chips, pop, and other types of junk food.

Although overdoing the junk food can lead to obesity and poor health, moderate amounts won't hurt. So have a seat, lean back, take your shoes off, and have a cookie. You'll be surprised how fast your troubles will leave.

A cold glass of bubbly pop makes everything go down better

The contentment in Jol Zebel's face comes from her sweet tooth's fulfillment

Easy access of such items makes junk food consumption a hard habit to kick

Students from every class attended the Semi-annual Homecoming. Many couples seem to be enjoying themselves and the music.

Looking especially pleased with himself is Jay Boughner as he dances with his date Kim Weaver.

Helping out with the ticket sales are Noretha Miller, Lari Robinson, Becky Bowman, and Cindy Miller.

Loving the World Away

On March 7, 1981 from 8:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. a dance of a different sort took place in the cafeteria at NHS. The Semi-formal is unlike any other dance held during the year at Northridge. It's organized by Student Council members and class officers from the freshman and sophomore classes. This year they chose the theme "Love the World Away" for the special night. Music was provided by WRRR.

Tickets for the dance were sold during the week at the school and they were also sold at the door. Posters were hung throughout the school and announcements were made practically every day. Many students were busy with preparations for the big Saturday night!

The Semi-formal is a popular event at Northridge. It's slightly better attended by the underclassmen although many of the upperclassmen attend also. Everyone seems to enjoy shodding the usual jeans and T-shirts or sweaters worn at most of the dances and replacing them with dresses and high heels or suits and ties. Besides, where else can a guy take a girl and only have to spend four dollars?

Looking for someone better? Here, Robi Bulfin and Ken Dieckhoff appear to be searching for someone — their dates perhaps?

Servies with a smile! Tamie Hawkins smiles upon $5 sell Kevin Eickroop's his tickets to the Semi-Formal on [all I trust] looks on.

For Your Entertainment

Giving students a break from the monotonous schedule of classes, entertaining them to make them smile, giving them a chance to recognize their own goals and accomplishments: That's what convocations are all about. Entertaining students this year was an easy job for a music group called "Freedom Jam," who played top hits off the American charts and also threw in some skits they worked up themselves. The following night they gave an hour and a half concert that was as well-attended as their convocation. Displaying reptiles in a way of caution and cure was reptile specialist Chuck Naidt who also added a bit of comedy relief to his show. Also entertaining and amusing students was magician Dick Ostlund. During the winter months the school held some convocations for the winter sports teams to recognize outstanding players and their coaches.

Becoming Santa Claus for a daredevil's turn in leather Cannon Tights as he reaches into his bag for another prize.

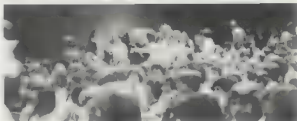

Taking part in a contest in which people swallow the train route are Lance Herschberger and Craig Eick.

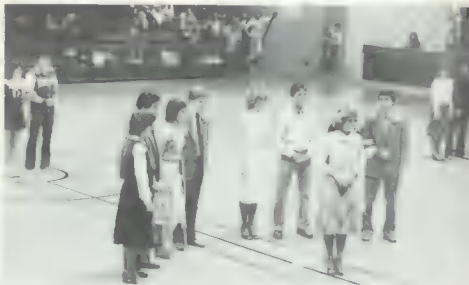

The most popular extracurricular activities are sports, especially basketball. Other popular activities include the school band, chess, and the school newspaper, the Blackboard.

Playing hard is one of the things that make life at Dixie High a challenge. And, with the cheering, shouting and excitement of the students.

Trying to find a seat for a competition can be as much fun as the show itself. Here some students are finding their seat.

repeating replies in an advertisement advertisement is Chuck Nard.

All are waiting expectantly to see who Miss Junior Miss Tatum Bradstock will crown as the 1961 Winter Homecoming King. Candidates and escorts are: John Pequet, Wayne Leiber, cent; Sam Adams, A. Dean Yoder, Linda Karlsson, Phil Schwartz, Stacey Yoder and Greg Klebsch.

What a star! Senior Wayne Leiber, chosen by the student body to reign as king, poses with most jolly friend, Phil.

The man in charge of the whole affair is student body president Mr. Dan Shuster, who introduced the candidates and announced the king.

Looking on, school social studies king Wayne Yoder, smiling along with student Julie Bryant.

LONG LIVE THE KING!

Many things are the same when planning the fall and winter festivities. The candidates must be chosen and voted on, escorts must be chosen and voted on, escorts must be picked, flowers must be ordered, and music must be planned. The only things that are different are the sport and the sex of the student being crowned.

The candidates chosen from the senior class were: Wayne Nethercuff, Phil Schwartz, Greg Slabach, and A Dean Yoder. Their escorts were: Julie Bryant, Linda Kauffman, Stacy Yoder, and Suzy Adamson respectively. Underclassmen representatives and escorts were: Junior, Kevin Bontrager and Kim Davis; sophomore, Wayne Yoder and Mist Yoder; and freshman, Leroy Kopf and Lori Robinson.

Due to an unexpected snow storm and a "badly needed" week off of school, the Homecoming was postponed from February 20 to the 26th when the basketball team played Prairie Heights. Because of the postponement, there was no dance after the game, but the evening ended "happily ever after" with a victory over the Panthers, and Wayne Nethercuff having been chosen king.

The announcement is made and escorts and candidates offer their congratulations to the surprised king chosen by his peers.

There was no dance following the Homecoming victory because it had already taken place one week earlier, on the date Homecoming had originally been planned. Seniors Jeff Miller and Faye Yoder danced a slow dance to a song played by the WNDU disc jockey.

His hat perched at just the right angle, Ken McCreary creates his own special kind of face.

It's hard to tell from her face what Hicks about is thinking here, but those Thornton sure look good.

Looking Good!

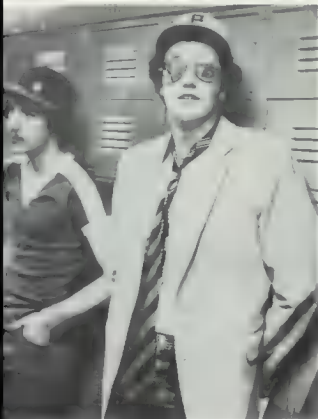

A person is capable of telling everyone just how he feels without uttering a word. How is this possible? By using facial expressions, of course! Smiles, frowns, pouts, and grins, they're all facial expressions. These expressions and many, many more are seen every day in the school halls. When a teacher walks down the hall with a frown on his face, it's sure to be a rough day. But when the person sitting next to you flashes you a grin during a tough math test, it makes your spirits rise.

It has been said that first impressions are often based on appearance and a smile is certainly more attractive than a frown. So the next time it becomes difficult to put feelings into words, forget about words, and use your face instead.

What in the world? Julia Culbertson shows us what we go to for a wide variety of emotions.

Early on his way up to first place, Decker (right) placed first in the school-wide Bob Decker singing contest.

An Indiana National Champion basketball player, Decker has a basketball jersey in his closet.

Smile, girls, because basketball player Miss Malicki and Tim Philstead are about to go to be camera shy.

Wintergreen — The Flavor Lasts!

The 1980 election fell upon the nation, and with it, its promises and problems. That's why the musical "Of Thee I Sing" fit in perfectly with the times. The play was a political satire, which often put down the Senate, the Supreme Court, and most of all the virtually unknown vice-president.

The platform for the mock election was, very simply, one word: love. The conflict arose when a competition was held to select a "Miss White House" to marry the promising candidate for president, John P. Wintergreen. The lovely Miss Diana Deeveroux was chosen, but Wintergreen had already made up his mind to marry his secretary—the efficient Miss Mary Turner. This action proved the way for threats, severed foreign relations, and nearly his impeachment, as the beautiful blossom of the South spread the story of how she was so cruelly jilted.

However, all did end happily. Twins were born to the president and his wife, and the neglected vice-president, Alexander Throstlewater, finally received recognition as he was assigned to take over the duty the president had failed to complete—that of marrying Miss Deeveroux.

The play was directed by Miss Mary Zimmer, Mrs. Ellen Augustine, and Miss Mary Ulrey. Student director was Toni Ruchford.

Baker shines forth as Len Gristle, apples make up to Shelly Turner's Ann.

The full cast gathers on the stage to sing "Pastors."

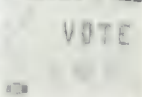

Harley Baker helps Todd Bink prepare for King's coronation.

Left: 1991 Homecoming Queen, Jennifer Thompson, and her prince, Justin White, Homecoming King, Michael Smith.

With a crowd of about 1,000 students, the Homecoming dance was held at the Homecoming Court, which was held at the Homecoming Court, which was held at the Homecoming Court.

Students John Miller and Kevin O'Connell are seen at the Homecoming dance, which was held at the Homecoming Court.

Joseph Smith, John Campbell, and John Campbell are seen at the Homecoming dance, which was held at the Homecoming Court.

Distinguished Faculty?

Once again, the faculty had a hit with their play. Their performance of "Twelfth Night" may have brought a few raised eyebrows from professionals, but everyone involved enjoyed themselves.

For the first time in the history of the faculty play, students were members of the cast as well as stage crewmembers.

People involved included faculty from the elementary schools as well as from Heritage. Also included of course were students and faculty from Northridge. Proceeds from the play go toward scholarships for seniors interested in education careers.

Tommaso talks with a group of students for the preproduction.

Yvonne and John K. are among those caught in the act.

Classical drama: Mr. Dennis McFarland poses for a picture in his book room.

Boys like "C" produce a 15-year-old Homer (Mr. Christy Collins).

The life of a teenager is shown during telephone talk time.

Albert Peterson's new set of color film can be seen in the blue tape letters and slushy display. Getting up is another story.

Classical drama: Mr. Dennis McFarland poses for a picture in his book room.

The love story is spreading and is reaching its peak at this time of the year.

Valentine's Day! A day of sunshine and flowers. Throughout the school halls are paper hearts and cupids. Many students wear pins on their shirts or jeans. Couples wander through the halls, making elaborate plans for their Valentine's date. It is the day when everyone has someone to love and love is expressed to all.

This is the second year Northridge has contributed to these expressions of love by allowing the Lance staff to deliver Valentine messages to students. These messages can be said or sung, and some are even delivered with lollipop! Teachers only smile when these messages are delivered, for on this day, more than any other, the old saying is true: Everyone does love a lover!

Will You Be Mine?

A nice substitute for the thirty dollars you might have to pay for a dozen roses is a homemade heart tree.

Thrust in locker shirts and heart pins are Scott Zerkle, Suzie Bontraver, Scott Tilley, Don Traver, and Stacey Yoder as they deliver with gusto the Valentine Greetings.

This is where it all started — ordering the Valentine Grams for your loved one as Ken Beebe and Gary O'Dell are doing from Rex House.

★ Grams ★

You, you're the one
You are the one I care for
You, you're the one.
The one I do my heart for.
Oh (name), you make this day, worth living for.
You're why I come to school.
Even if it's a bore.
Oh, dear (name),
I do it all for you.

5. The Chorus from:
"You Light Up My Life."

4. Sing to "M" Donald's Song.

When picking "and the right" message for your sweetie, prices ranged from a dollar for the musical notes, fifty cents for the cartoon poems and twenty-five cents more with a lollipop.

Curiously mingled with happiness is seen on Kandy Wilson's face when being sung to.

A collection of many years of hard work and a lifetime of pride have been rewarded with a top recognition award. Congratulations to Anna Acosta, a first-class student. Award: Maria Vazquez, representing Maricopa, Arizona. Member: Jose Navarro, John Phillips. Award: Elizabeth, a girl. Underclassman Award.

Three years of faithful study has off to the future. John Schults, while examining an award for his excellence in Spanish.

A hard shake of gratitude and congratulations is exchanged between N.H.S. teacher Mr. Dennis McBurns and Tanya Hershberger when Tanya is awarded the M.C.C.A. scholarship.

Mr. Leonard Buech, assistant sponsor, presents student Ann Dabala and Natalie Smith with a certificate and pin for their dedication.

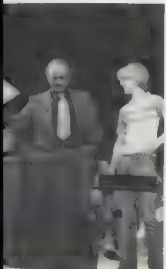

The Final Payoff

All the hard work, a lifetime of dedication put toward the achievement of a single goal: to give it all you've got and be number one. Each year Northridge has the distinct honor of presenting its top students with tokens of recognition for their outstanding efforts. All through life these excellent students, each a specialist in his own area, have worked hard and given it their "all". Now, at long last, it begins to pay off. They have reached their immediate goals and are now striving to apply all of their skills and knowledge to the new life awaiting each of them. The awards received by these students are merely small tokens of the achievement in their chosen areas of study, but the intention and meaning of the award is always the same no matter how large or small. It seems to say this: Northridge is proud of the standard of excellence maintained by its students!

This year, the honor of presenting Mr. Dean with the track team's trophy for the General Relays championship is given to Mike Hall and Keith Longworth.

An eager Tim Weaver anxiously awaits the presentation of his much-deserved "Dean Duff" award for Elkhart County from the Career Center.

Bodies beautiful Steve Petersen, Scott Gruber, and Wayne Yoder show off their hairy chests. The winner? Steve Petersen.

Extreme suction is needed to hold onto the ping-pong ball as Susan Hayes discovered.

They Call It Spirit

Through tradition, the week before the basketball sectional is called Spirit Week. In the past, Spirit Week consisted of "dress-up" days. This year a new approach was tried. Instead of dressing up, each class participated in different games every day. On Monday the classes competed in class challenges. Tuesday was the day for the obstacle course, while Wednesday was the ping-pong relay. Thursday was a day for relays — the scooter relays. The week ended on Friday with the ever-popular piggyback basketball.

Mr. Bruce Stahly, who helped the cheerleaders and Student Council organize the week, said that it was hoped that the activities would involve more students in Spirit Week. Each activity used the maximum number of students possible, and students did claim to enjoy the activities.

The seniors were the overall champions for the week.

After participating in the coke guzzling contest, Pam Magyar catches her breath.

Kurt's hair is shaggy and he's a "dumbass" in four lines. November Kurt Kaufman won the "dumbass" award for his hair.

No, it's not flood season. It's Jack Rogers, Steve Ambrose, Gary Peters, and Dan Howells competing for the "hardest legs" Jack won it by the hair of his chin-chin-chin.

After eating stackers and whistling, champion Linda Hoffman has a severe case of cotton mouth.

The Kappa Kappa Gamma dance is a tradition at Northridge High. Members of the organization, including co-president, this tradition often being organized by Mr. Don Wenzel and Margaret Monds.

The gymnasium seems to be a popular place as the evening goes on. Here, Tina Gaby and The Luge take a short break to refresh themselves.

The pictures taken from above the ballroom gives an overall view of the good time everyone seems to be having.

The delicious buffet served by the Culture Center began the evening on the right note, even though there were some.

The dance floor was crowded with couples in formal attire. Fred Healy and Kelly Kaufman are seen.

Students get "out of the classroom" sometime last spring. These couples from "getting out" are the dance floor.

After being chosen Prom King and Queen of the Prom by the junior class, Bob Westberg and Kim White pose to have their picture taken.

Beautiful Illusions

Prom night, a night of romance, glamour, and enchantment. Sparkling eyes, bubbling laughter, and beautiful illusions all abound on this night. For students at Northridge, this magical night was Saturday, May 8, 1981. The Prom was held at the Century Center in South Bend in the downstairs ballroom overlooking the river. Ice-d blue and ivory were used to create the color scheme and the theme was "Love: Look What You've Done to Me."

The night began with a buffet dinner served at the Century Center after which the junior class officers presented a short skit entitled, "The Ten Commandments for Prom-goers." The dancing began soon afterwards. Many couples also took advantage of the beautiful patio that overlooked the river. However, as soon as the rain began to fall, the dance floor became the most popular place to be.

After the dance was over, everyone drove back to Elkhart to the Concord Cinema for their private showing of the movie "Private Eyes" starring Tim Conway and Don Knotts. Luckily, the movie was a comedy and almost everyone was able to stay awake.

While some couples did keep up the tradition of continuing Prom night activities well into Sunday, the constant downpour of rain and the fact that Sunday was Mother's Day forced many couples to find their way home early.

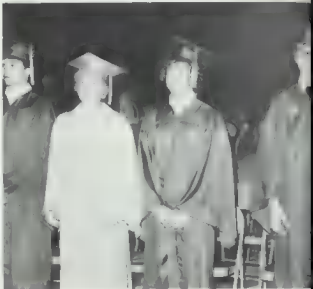

Even though everyone's all dressed up, it doesn't mean the elements of humor is missing from the evening. Scott Brown and Mel Soderstrom are teased about something.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Thomas Terry reads off the names as School Board members present the diplomas.

After reading the names of students and graduates, Terry, acting as the guest speaker, said: "I hope you will all think of the people, teachers and friends."

Emotions ranged from tears to excitement to ecstasy. Hans Vern Sandstrom and Tom Sandstrom seem to be experiencing the same while "vice-president" Jim Lund seems to be feeling more solemn.

Ready or Not . . .
Here
We Come

"The graduating class of '81 is ready for society, but especially ready for the class of '82!" joked Principal James McCormick. Ready, willing, and eager are all adjectives that could have described the graduating seniors on the evening of May 23. The ceremony began at 7:00 PM in the school gymnasium. There were two student speakers, Gary O'Hall and Ann Ludwig. The guest speaker was Dr. Robert Miller.

Many lasting memories were formed during the hour-and-a-half ceremony. Some areas of each graduate's life were left behind forever, but many more new opportunities and experiences were given a chance to grow. And so, the departure of the class of '81 began a new chapter in each graduate's life and in the life of Northridge High School.

Taking a moment to read a program and reflect on the past, from left are Blakey Taylor and Bruce Lamb.

Classmates, classmates, and of course a diploma are given to senior class President Gary Glabach by School Board member M. Roger Kridler.

Parents, relatives, and friends all assemble in the gym to attend the ceremony.

ORGANIZATIONS

As the nightmare unfolds, you are seated in the front row bleachers watching a ball game. Suddenly, you become thirsty, but when you go to buy a coke, no one is there to sell you one. During half time, you stand on an empty floor and tap your foot to the sound of your water bottle. When the final buzzer blows declaring your team the victor, nobody cheers.

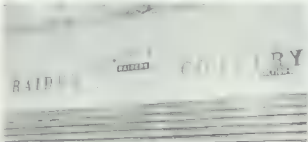

But that's where the fun begins in an AIAA chapter. And subsequent chapters. AIAA chapters are important organizations that are not only fun and exciting, but also a place where you can find a sense of purpose. The AIAA chapters are the only ones in the world that are not just a place to go to, but a place to belong. And that's where the fun begins.

The chapters keep you up with the latest in science, technology, and engineering. And that's where the fun begins.

AIAA members get plenty of exercise during the physical activity of the chapter. And that's where the fun begins.

Attending a Student Council meeting are Cindy Taylor, Jay Broughner, Lori Robinson, Bob Wardles, and Mark Pugh. The Student Council meets every other Wednesday throughout the school year.

One of the Student Council's activities boldly declares the pride at NTHS. Council members met one Saturday morning armed with paint brushes and tools to work.

The Council's faculty advisor, Mr. Dan Shover, looks a little skeptical during a meeting. Someone's getting a little carried away with a new idea perhaps?

Student Council '81: Busy, Busy, Busy

The NHS Student Council was busy this year. They continued to sponsor the dances after the games and organize activities such as Homecoming, the various Parent's Nights, and the Semi-Formal. They also succeeded in substantially adding to their list of responsibilities. Spirit Week activities were created by Student Council members and proved to be a big success. The Student Council contributed greatly toward filling the school with Christmas spirit. They decorated the front lobby with mistletoe and even a Christmas tree! Santa arrived at NHS upon the request of the Student Council and students were able to get their pictures taken with him. Upon the request of some of the students, the Student Council asked for and obtained permission to paint the wall of the gym above the home side-bleachers with this slogan: "Raider Country."

It was a busy year for the members, who were chosen by their peers to represent their classes, but it was also a very rewarding year. Progress was made — and that's what the Northridge Student Council is all about. It's a group of students who are caught up in progression at NHS!

Student Council saw a lot of work. Mitch Stebach takes some time out to flash a big smile!

Student Council officers, V.P. Lisa Stebach, Pres. Bob Peterson, and Sec. Ann Ludwig are just a few of the many students who are working hard to solve a few of our old problems.

First row: Becky Howman, My Bingham, Dani Mathis, Emma Johnson, Cindy Foster.
Second row: Steve Tibbo, Cindy Miller, Mitch Stebach, Sandra Miller, Tina Driver, Mark Davis.

Third row: Jim Lantz, Pat Fodor, Sue Ann Ludwig, Pres. Steve Peterson, V.P. Greg Stebach, Rob Wenzler.

Fourth row: Joe Sanford, Texas Kent Hensley, Kevin Beckman, David Prutsky.

The senior Booster Club members are looked to for spirit and leadership, leading the club in a cheer is Tony Botschager, Tim Engeland, and Ron Hunt.

Members of the Booster Club and Raidersites contribute in ways other than cheering, like sweeping the Gym, for instance, as Ron Hunt and Tim Engage are doing.

During warm-up time, Dave Hunt poses as the Kahler mascot, and since had a spook fight with Panther mascots from a rival school.

Whether the energy is contagious or all the pep is just the spirit of the Booster Club and Rainbowettes, this stand behind the team and cheer them on.

Although the Booster Club often turns their backs on the opposing team's lineup, the Rainbowettes are more of a fan-favorite.

Spirit? We Got It! Wind It Up and Let It Show!

What caused a group of junior guys to wear togas to school on the Friday of sectionals? What caused Scott Zirkle to wear sunglasses and a basketball on his head to a game? What brought out all the T-shirts, sport coats, ties and pom-poms? Spirit, that's what.

Spirit comes in all shapes and sizes. It doesn't discriminate on the basis of race, religion, or grade point average. Anyone with the enthusiasm can be a part of the Rainbowettes or Booster Club.

In addition to some of the more traditional events like running to sectionals and building pyramids, some new things were added. The Clubs sold pom-poms for fifty cents and built a castle for the players to run through. The Clubs also agreed to help with tasks such as sweeping the gym floor and singing along during the National Anthem.

No matter what ways were found of expressing spirit, the support was evident, and that's the whole purpose of the Clubs.

Sectional night packs the Northridge gym. Even VIPs (includes upgrade to two season tickets) are sometimes able to get past tickets to sit with the group and share their spirit.

Although the exhibition performance at Rice Field was described by some spectators as humiliating, the performers at the local contest "went pretty well" and qualified them for state.

French braids became popular among our cheer squad members long before we needed to keep it under their hats. Here, Steph Smith finishes Sherri Severson's hair.

The pace slows down and much of the movement stops during "Let It Be Me."

Chin is held up, eyes forward. It's not always easy to keep these positions when there are distractions, but the concentration on Chen Tharp's and Lynn Lantz's face shows that it can be done.

As the band prepares to enter the field at the start, center, Linda Knaffman awaits the moment of well-defined attention.

Somewhere Over the Rainbow

The theme of the marching band was not hard to figure out. It appeared on sweatshirts, key chains, stickers, just about everywhere. It was the red, blue, yellow, and green of a rainbow.

The "Raider Rainbow Connection" started as usual with selecting drum majors (Cory O'Dell and Dennis Grabert) band camp, drilling, and the beginnings of the pre-game show. But they went a long way from there. Tuesday and Thursday night rehearsals readied them for the local marching band contest. There they earned a first division rating, but were informed that because of a rule violation they would be given a second. Miss Ulrey protested that the rule was unclear and the dispute was settled in favor of the band. They then went on to earn a first division rating in the state level.

The band also played selected pieces on the "Bravo" T.V. show, and later Miss Ulrey and new assistant Richard Lindsay appeared on the "Good Morning Michiana" talk show.

The band performed their contest show at half-time on Goshen's Foremen Field, and for the student body during spirit week. But it may never have been so spectacular as the night of homecoming. Only a couple of hours before the game the storm clouds parted, and a rainbow appeared in the sky.

The rifle corps sways to the music, as senior Greg Savson plays his solo in the contest piece "I Sing the Bells Electric."

People just not quite as uncomfortable as attention, but definitely not as relaxed as at camp. The band awaits their turn to take the field and perform their contest show.

NHS and PTL

These initials might seem foreign to some, but to the members of the National Honor Society and the Praise-the-Lord group they mean a lot.

To the students in the Honor Society, these initials mean recognition for their efforts to achieve good grades, their ability to get along with others, their fine character, and their leadership skills. Through the Society, these students are encouraged to further develop these qualities by helping other students in their studies. The NHS has "gotten on its feet" so to speak with the help of the new advisor, Miss Mary Zimmer. Student exchanges, cassette taping of books, fund raisers, publicity, and a teacher's luncheon were a few of the projects undertaken throughout the year.

The initials PTL also mean a lot to the students that meet early mornings before school to discuss chapters in the Bible, sing songs and fellowship. These activities are all designed to "Praise the Lord."

The positive attitudes and actions that both of these groups strive to maintain create a special bond between their members. This bond enables everyone to get to know the real meaning of the initials NHS or PTL.

When facing the Western Honor Society, members met for a great study. Dennis Miller, K. J. Herschberger, Glenn Miller, Doug Pascha, Rob Butler, Jim Bevan and Tim Gooderman listen intently to Heidi Bough reading the scriptures to the others.

From row Miss Mary Zimmer, Emma Herschberger, Julie Bryant, Emily Bryant, Cynthia Terry.

Second row Joe Sanford, Dennis Drake, K. J. Miller, Rob Butler, Glenn Miller.

Third row, Heidi Bough, Jim Bevan, Doug Pascha, Tim Gooderman and Dennis Miller.

Not pictured, Ann Ludwig.

They discuss and compare student's test results and calculate their grade-point average, but rather than discuss presents and appointments, these in some degree are made known from outside.

Some of the home-visit photos in Wednesday's magazine are: Sarah, 11, of Crystal Wyes; Chris, 10, of the left; Ron, 10, of the right; and Cynthia, 10, of the right.

Besides the singing of songs, Don't inter also leads the group in studies of various chapters of the Bible.

The sweet roll must be "longer today, good," as Miss Mary Zimmer, across the table, looking.

Feature

These students are patiently waiting to bege down at a Student Council sponsored dance. Scampering hands are Student Council members Scott Tilley and David Traylor.

Everyone seems to enjoy jumping around to rock'n-roll, disco, and jazz during this dance.

A second childhood? Maybe, but we think these growing beauties are a whole lot older. Mad and Jennie Schuler pose for a picture with Scott's new friend, a member sponsored by the Student Council.

to be a major factor in the planning of a good dinner, and the help of giving her that to help with the school and the school.

Students are seen at a dance where money is being raised for the school.

Money Mania

Money, money, and more money! The whole world wants money. Even the small town of Middlebury has been hit with a stream of fund raisers. Along with the annual junior magazine sales for funding the prom, and the frequent dances sponsored by the Student Council and the National Honor Society, there has also been a multitude of fund raisers for the new band uniforms. These fund raisers include fish fries, auction sales, fruit sales, numerous other events, and for the first time, an all-school fund-raiser whose proceeds would go toward the uniform fund. This prospect, the first of its kind at Northridge, was the sale of family portraits. Other fund-raisers for various purposes this year were: the faculty vs. WRHB basketball game, pictures with Santa, Valentine-grams, Santa-grams, chocolate hats and scarves, the Student Council book store, and the sale of old yearbook photographs. Important annual fund raisers such as the teachers' play provide money to back the MGTA scholarship. A dance marathon is one idea proposed by Student Council sponsor, Jeffrey M. Dan Shriver as a possible fund-raiser for future years.

It's true that money is needed to get things done, and Northridge activities are no exception. When it has been necessary to raise extra funds, on the whole, the community responded well to the call for help.

Cold Weather Clubs

It's Cokes and C-10s... John K. Rogers is busy serving a lot of life during winter.

Whether Zangie's brand or, in fact, of better, the game, most people find themselves in the conference start during ball time. Fresh winter is there people in the club.

Getting ready for the Snow Valley Skiscope. People are ready to go.

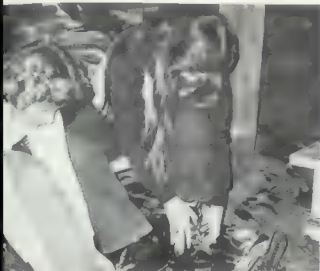

As the cold weather sets in, students begin to search for other things to occupy their time besides studies. The Service Club begins its duties during football season, and by basketball season it is in full swing. Then another club emerges: Ski and Ski on skis, a lot of fun, and the Ski Club begins heading for the hills.

The otherwise drab Mondays are made a little more bearable for Ski Club members. Most purchase a season ticket to Swiss Valley and, if there's enough snow, spend their Monday evenings enjoying the weather instead of complaining about it.

The Service Club works at the other end of the week. The Friday and Saturday home games require some popcorn-popping and snacks-serving. While not many people want to give up their seats at football games, many people do take advantage of the court check the Service Club offers at basketball games.

Clubs are a way to become involved and get to know others, and the Service and Ski Clubs are no exception.

Factor 1: the pre-implementation of strategies to enhancing the use of teachers' knowledge and competence. This factor includes items relating to the pre-implementation of innovations as well as the process of making a start.

For 4 hours, various features of independence, such as being free to call your own number and off your hands, become a reality, without the hassle of calling a long-distance number.

Seated: Club members, front row: Sponsor Mr. Gordon Kaufman; Don Rothstein; Matt Demko; Lee Goshorn; Anna Yoder; Bill Steiner; Kevin Goman; Steve Stine; Sponsor Mr. Phil Bender; second row: Martha Wadsworth; Katie Sauer; Andrea Johnson; Steve Malhotra; Doug Evans; Jack Ramsey; Mary Miller; Mike Goff; Dexter Prange; Back row: Viki Treier; Kelly Kopf; Tracy Mendenhall; Bruce Kaufman; Cynthia Terry; Jeff Schae; Laura Hershberger; Shanti Brumback; Jo Sundt.

In time patron of the half-time rush, Mr. Davidson Kilmister, and his Sacerdotal W.C. come along, with pop for the dozens, of these days that will soon it is like the whole lot.

With guitars and outstretched arms, the Sound of Friends swapped up their performance of "Listen to the Music" on the "Booze" TV show.

"I Believe in Music" is the opening song in all of the Sound of Friends performances. Dave Lantz, Liz Gah, Mark Darby, and Scotti Brown-trager begin the song.

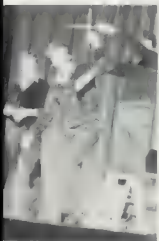

Sight-reading, as Dave Lantz is doing, is a big part of the Sound of Friends. It helps them to "decide who's good!"

"Christmas Music Box" came alive to the students as members of the Sound of Friends audition choir. The production featuring a lot of energy, jumping up and down, is a lockdown-theater.

Single Kids added a bunch of contemporary to the Sound of Friends Christmas performance in front of the students.

Getting Into the "Swing" of Things

Take a little mellow music, add it to some of that toe-tapping, make-you-want-to-get-up-and-dance music; and then add some choreography and you've got the NHS swing choir - the Sound of Friends.

It may seem to some that the Sound of Friends would be an easy class, just singing and dancing. However, they must do work in workbooks (just like math) and work with theory (just like science). They also do work with choreography, sight read, and get into "heavy discussions" about music.

The Sound of Friends performs for the school at events such as the Spring Thing. They also take a tour to the other community schools and perform for organizations such as church groups. The Sound of Friends earned a spot on the "Brevo" T.V. show, and received a superior rating in the Swing Choir Contest.

There's a lot of talk about the "younger generation's music," but the Sound of Friends has something for everyone - even parents.

Under the control of puppeteer Jim Hackett is Dave Lantz, while Gary O'Dell becomes a wind-up toy in "Music Box Christmas."

From the sign to a seven-minute ride at the Green Line station, we then explored the local area (p. 1) and the "Green Street".

Work, meet work. When we got to work, the students found a group of people through the mail of a construction company.

Front row: Emily Brown, Ann Lyndee, Mark Baker, Josh Carpenter, Josh Miller, Matt Leonard, Elise. Back row: Sarah, Matt, Josh, Steven, Hannah, and the students. The group is in a room with a large window.

Seeing the students with a group of people, and the students with a group of people.

Working Hard to Beat the Rush

"Where is that yearbook?" "Isn't it done yet?" "We want our yearbook!" The cries are unmistakable. Yet, during the year of 1980-81, the cries diminished and became closer. The yearbook finally became on schedule. The staff and the persistent, dedicated editors have worked long, hard hours thinking, planning, and writing, until at last, the results began to show. With the finishing of the last of the pages came a giant sigh of relief. Although the work was hard and at times extremely aggravating, the learning experience was there and the result obvious — The 1980-81 Shield!

From work and effort, an idea was created. A beautiful book, a yearbook, was born. With it came the Shield, the yearbook's emblem.

As the yearbook was being written, the staff and editors were constantly working. The yearbook was a constant presence. The yearbook was a constant presence.

Time Out for Half-time

"Watermelon Man," "Spirit of Spain," and "Twelfth Street Rag." These are just a few of the songs performed by the Pep Band and Auxiliary.

Throughout the winter months they kept busy practicing for half-time performances. Their practices consisted mostly of Monday evenings, and time immediately before the B-team game. This year's Auxiliary not only included the Drill Team and Flag Corps, but also the Rifles.

Captains of the Drill Team were Linda Kauffman and Paula Wallace. Flag Corps captains included Monica Warstler and Ann Ludwig. Angie Mast was the captain of the Rifle Corps.

Each of the different groups alternated or combined efforts, and along with the Pep Band, made half-time a little more than just a time to get a coke.

The Drill Team and Flag Corps combine their abilities to the tune of "Watermelon Man."

Trumpeters Scott Kauffman and Todd Smucker keep the beat to "Watermelon Man."

Revels and a strong, lively, confident Sarah Miller and her partners patiently listen for their cue—their routine to the tune of "Water Garden" by Max.

Homecoming is a temptation for Pop Band members to watch the show, but they keep their eyes on the prize.

The skill of keeping tempo with the band while also watching auxiliary perform is shown by band instructor Max/Mary Olney.

Basketball half-timers are a big part of the pop band members' duties. In the foreground, Dan and Gabe display their enthusiasm in music.

Staff editors often put in many extra than hours. Above: Mr. Leonard Boschy works with managing editor, Stacey Yoder, sorting out some work.

First row: Missy Mahaffa, Natalie Smith and Julie Schneider.

Second row: Lisa Platt, Todd Hruby, Mary Scott.

Third row: Ron Voyer, Stine Bontrager, and Scott Talley.

Last row: Scott Zerkle, Stacey Yoder, and Pat Yuwell.

For the first time ever, "The Latent" staff sold Santa Grains during the Christmas season.

Selling through Valentine Grams and expanding his various jobs as shown in caption editor Ron Trayer

Expanding Ideas

Selling Santa-Grams, Valentine Grams and distributing papers while also being on top of all school activities were just some of "The Lance" staff's duties.

For the first year over the paper was expanded from four pages to eight. The eight pages made it possible for better coverage of all school activities. Of course like anything, the eight pages had its rough spots. The rough spots consisted of not meeting deadlines and finding stories to fill the space.

Another added feature was the idea of Christmas Grams. These gave people opportunities to say that certain something to that certain someone in "The Lance" for five cents per word.

"The Lance" staff, being only a one credit course, met the first semester every day except Friday. The second semester they met only every other day. Towards the end of the year jobs were rotated to give people a bigger variety of newspaper experience.

Discussing important Lance staff business is Todd Truitt and Ron Trayer

Lance staff cartoonist, Todd Truitt, adds finishing touches to another masterpiece

SPORTS

Thousand Thousand Thousand and exhaustion. The agony of hearing the coach yell, "Alright, run a mile and you can go home," when it's already time for practice to end. It's difficult to think of the team when they're inside a lined and sore. It's also amazing that performance always seems to be a lot of other things: energy, luck, patterned, uniformed, athletic mistakes and good intentions.

The athletes know all this and more, but the problems can be overcome. Just as the athletes know that the problems caused by their country, region, and practice have to be solved. So they do. And the final thing. A lot of people are in the way. Some are in the way of the winning.

They and all the other athletes are caught up in the fight for the gold medal, but whether the fight is for the gold medal or for the gold medal of the opponent, the gold medal is the sense of accomplishment to those who did their best. And that makes everyone a winner.

The female athlete, "I don't know," is a young woman, possibly a member of the team, who is holding a large bouquet of flowers. The image is partially obscured by a dark, textured overlay on the right side.

Golden Runners

The Raider Cross Country team finished a fine season with an 11 win, 2 loss record. The Raiders opened their season by beating a tough Concord team and closed by finishing eighth at the Elkhart Regionals. This was the first appearance of the whole Raider team at the Regionals.

Keith Gingerich led the team to many victories, earning the title of Most Valuable Runner. Keith finished first in the New Prairie and Lakeland Invitationals, second at the Elkhart Sectional, fourth at the Regional, and thirty-third in the Fort Wayne Semi-state.

Receiving ribbons from an official at the Lakeland Invitational are Keith Gingerich, Joe Sanford, Jon Carpenter, Lydell Troyer, and Wes Heishberger.

Front row: Joe Sanford, Mike Colt, Keith Gingerich, Pat Yowell

Second row: Kevin Rhodes, Rob Butler, Lydell Troyer, Jon Carpenter, Chris Fisher

Back row: Mgr. Ted Miller, Mark Yoder, Wes Heishberger, Tony Swihart, Paul Carlin, Anthony Miller, Coach Mr. Gary Madril

	SEPS	OPP*
Concord	25	11
Farmstead	20	90
Westview	10	54
Northwood	32	25
Goshen	20	0
N. Prairie*	3rd
C. Noble	19	38
Princeton	21	16
Humboldt	19	40
Bethany	18	45
Lakeland*	2nd
Westview	20	50
Jimenez	Proven
Winnipeg	28	20
Lakeland	27	20
Sectional	24th
Regional	8th

*Invitational

Pushing hard in gale position over their Goshen opponents are Mark Pudy, Anthony Miller, and Tony Swihart, while Mr. Modlin shouts encouragement.

Accepting their awards at the Lakeland Invitational are first Keith Gingerich, second Mike Ciesmas, and third, Andy Saman from Lakeland, fourth, Jeff Moad from Leo, and Mike Thomas from Concord.

Beginning and Winning

Tennis showed strong individual effort this year, effort which brought the team to a record of 9-5.

The team (which has only existed now for three years) was coached by Mr. Mike McCoy, taking over for Mr. Bruce Stahley.

Senior Gleis Miller was voted the most valuable player, having won the sectionals, and advancing all the way to semi-state.

	Us	Them
Concord	2	0
Howe	3	2
Itasca	4	3
Coheen	0	3
Lakeland	4	1
Fairfield	3	2
Central Noble	5	0
Waconia	3	2
Miner	4	1
West Noble	5	0
Woodview	5	0
Minnetonka	1	6
Northwood	1	4

A smashing serve is delivered by junior Gregg Esch, who finished the season 5-7.

First year coach Mr. Mike McCoy is easily accepted by the team. Here he gives a few technique tips.

Helping Tim Gonderman with the forehand stroke is coach Mr. Mike McGee.

Showing determination during a game is Jim Snowden, who finished with a record of 8-5.

Front row: James Yoder, Sam Hoover, Charles Wiederman, Mark Hochstetler, Scott Kaufman.

Back row: Clede Miller, Tom Hershberger, Bob Dumas, Gregg East, Tim Gonderman, David Felt, Dennis Geber, Jim Snowden, Kevin Smith.

Not pictured: Keith Ludwig.

MVP: Clede Miller displays the form that helped send him to semi-state.

Along with form, perfect timing is required for a good spike. Marie Ciro, Team exhibits both. Ciro led the team with spikes, which earned her the title MVP in offense.

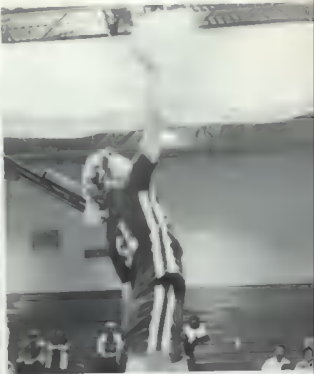

Performing her powerful, most valuable serve is senior Shelly Rasm.

Junior varsity. Front row: Misti Yoder, Julie Merrick, Lori Robinson.

Second row: Becky Bowman, Kim Weaver, Yonda Houser.

Back row: Karen Outman, Tami Troyer, Michelle Erickson, Becky Spout. Coach Mrs. Diane Olson.

	Game 1	Game 2	Game 3
Elkhart Memorial	14-16	15-13	16-14
Penn	13-15	14-15	16-14
Fairfield	13-15	14-15	16-14
Blatown	12-6	6-12	14-15
Bethany	5-15	15-16	15-16
Lakeland	11-15	12-13	15-16
NorthWood	6-15	11-15	15-16
Westview	15-14	15-13	16-14
Ceneca	15-8	15-8	16-14
West Noble	16-1	15-6	16-14
Goshen	11-15	14-15	16-14
Mish-Mish	1-16	5-15	16-14
Elkhart Central	3-15	16-11	16-14

"Bump, Set, Kill . . .

another one bites the dust!"

That's just one of the several often-used cheers of the volleyball team as they ended a season of highs and lows with a record of 6-7.

The losses to Fairfield and Lakeland were especially frustrating, but the game with Concord was probably the highlight of the entire season. For the first time in Miss Jeanine Roberts' seven years of coaching, the Raiders defeated the Minutewomen. It was also the first time in seven straight years that the team had won a Monday night game.

There was another first the night of the NorthWood game. It was the first time the Pep Band had ever showed up to play at a girl's sport.

When Sectional rolled around, the team upset a powerful Wawaseo squad the first night and defeated Westview in the semi-finals, although they suffered a disappointing loss to Bethany in the finals.

Award winners were: Shelly Rassi — serves; Cynthia Terry — offense; Deb Biller — defense.

Front row: Natalie Smith, Shelly Rassi, Tamra Herndlinger, Cindy Terry.
Back row: Gayle Rhoombornet, Sarah Miller, Heather Neumann, Pam Jewett, Deb Biller, Liz Galt, Janet Hensler.

Watching the server, Michelle Erickson gets ready to interchange positions with Kim Weaver as soon as the ball is hit.

Freshmen, front row: Sharon Miller, Teri Soes, Terry Franklin, Robin Taylor.
Second row: Lisa Peterson, Tami Hawkins, Judi Johnson, Donna Smith.
Back row: Pam Pasoby, Karen Coll, Claudia Conson, Stephanie Kock, Dawn Knechtbaum.

Lunging to pick up a serve, Mimi Yoder displays good form.

An Injured Season

The football season ended with a disappointing record of two wins and seven losses. The team met with injuries early on with junior quarterback Shawn Erickson breaking his wrist. The Raiders then called on sophomore Greg Matteson to lead the offense.

The highlight of the Raider season was the 21-0 Homecoming win over the Bronson Vikings. A. Dean Yoder, Most Valuable Offensive player, led in yards gained. Wayne Nethercutt led in tackles and assists, earning his way to the position of Most Valuable Defensive Player. Phil Schwartz was strong offensively and defensively and was named all around Most Valuable Player.

Blocked at the line of scrimmage. A. Dean Yoder tries to escape to the right.

Freshman, front row: John B. Miller, Jim Hackett, John B. Miller, John Wood, Jeff Fingerle, Mike Plutcher

Second row: Jim Young, Randy Kaufman, Randy Holderman, Tom Hellinga, Scott Mockler, Jay Dougherty, Rod Sutton, Eric Vellman

Back row: Coach Bruce Bryan, Brian Kolka, Greg Wondolman, Rabon Bull, Todd Checkley, Dan Falt, Mark Hinton, Rod Hine, Cordell Wetherick, DeWayn Krepl, Jeff Graber, Coach Mike Pratzler

Varsity and JV, Front row: Tim Spredlin, Phil Gage, Brian Swisher, Brent Cooper, Tim Gage, Shawn Erickson, Kevin LeMonk, Steve Gooderman, Keri Kauffman, Dennis Beaman, Second row: Rick Grooms, Laron Schwartz, Mike Baker, Dave Hunt, Rick Grooms, Scott Graber, Matt Merrick, Steve Peterson, A. Dean Yoder, Wayne Nethercutt, Todd Howard, Phil Schwartz, Wes Bryant

Sack row: Bob Wanstler, Coach Dick Cole, Steve Hays, Gary Roberts, Paul Leads, Doug Kurlidge, Greg Matthews, Dan Hentzler, Todd Bontroy, Jeff Miller, Barry Lang, Kent Sullivan, Kevin Davis, Andy Mahoffe, Steve Ambrose, Gary Crockett, Coach Ray Reist, Kyle Bontroy

A line of Raiders stops the Cannon drive cold at the line.

Lunging to prevent a touchdown, Paul Leedy initiates the tackle moments before A. Dean Yoder's hit.

Attempting to avoid the last Bronson player, A. Dean Yoder goes left.

	Ho.	Thru.
Concord	31	38
NorthWood	41	32
Central Noble	35	34
Brown	26	34
Lakeland	27	39
Godwin	35	32
Brown	31	41
Fairfield	27	34
New Prairie	31	34

Upping his personal record to 5-1, Arlyn Miller defeats his NorthWood opponent.

Bringing the team to a fourth place finish at Sectionals, five wrestlers advanced to regionals. Scott Giddens (first place), Jeff Miller, Ron Trayer, Kevin Davis, and Cletis Miller (second place finishes).

Victory Through Defeat

It was a rebuilding year for the NHS grapplers. The loss of ten seniors from the year before left the team, for the most part, young and inexperienced. The season ended with only three wins against eight losses. However, wrestling is as much an individual sport as it is a team sport, and some individuals gained victories in spite of the defeats, ending with winning seasons of their own.

Scott Giddens placed fourth at the Goshen Invitational, third at the Mishawaka Invitational, and was the 112-pound Sectional champ. Scott ended his season 16-7 and was also given an award for most points scored. Jeff Miller ended 12-5 after placing second at the Goshen Invitational and also at Sectionals. Co-captain Cletis Miller finished 17-8, placed third at Goshen, and second at Sectional. After fighting the flu the entire week before Regionals, he placed second and went onto Semi-State. Cletis was also named MVP.

In addition to these, Arlyn Miller placed fourth at the Goshen Invitational and Scott Gember second. Co-captain Ron Trayer placed third at Goshen and second at Sectionals. Kevin Davis also placed second at Sectionals.

Even if experience was not on their side, and even if the books did record a losing season, the team members were definitely not losers.

As the match begins, sophomore Scott Giddens ties up with his West Noble foe looking for a chance to shoot for the legs.

	Us	Them
West Noble	22	43
Fairfield	36	36
Nish-Marian	3	62
Coaban	9	54
Jeabree	50	24
Northwood	23	43
White Pigeon	30	43
Westview	19	22
Pr. Heights	11	52
St. Joe	29	42
Concord	32	40

Front row: Rob Butler, Dennis Baker, Rob Fuller, Roger Waman, Tim Spradlin, Chad Kinale, Jeff Graber, Lavin Schwartz, Gedell Wubhrich, Greg Franklin.

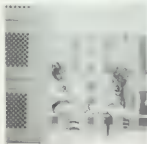

Back row: Steve Langhills, Arlyn Miller, Scott Giddens, Jeff Miller, Ron Tresser, John Miller, Brian Brenner, Scott Graber, Paul Leedy, John Wood.

Not pictured: Chris Miller, Kevin Davis, Charlie Gray.

Although it may be difficult to tell who is in control, Jeff Miller is actually on the ground driving the White Pigeon man in his back.

There are many surprises in basketball as Michelle Erickson finds out when a West Noble opponent steals the ball.

B-team ball players, Becky Bowman and Tami Hawkins discuss game plans before the game.

B-Team players. Front row, Cindy Miller, Tami Hawkins, Becky Bowman, Julie Merrick, Chris Harshberger.
Second row, Tonia Folger, Kelly Cripe, Caren Outman, Robin Collins, Michelle Erickson, Janet Haschelder, Lori Robinson, Coach Diana Gibson, Mr. Tyron Howard.

Varsity. Front row, Sarah Miller, Theresa Harshberger, Pam Jewett, Deb Miller.
Back row, Tonda Houser, Coach Linda Kaminski, Gail Rheinbasser, Susan Hayes, Becky Hunt, Tina Troyer, Rhonda Rhodes, Beth McBride.

	1/2	Three
West Noble	37	13
Pineland	30	10
Johnson	32	10
Deer	48	10
Ed. Memorial	38	13
Canton	39	10
Northwood	33	10
Lakeview	31	10
Watson	31	10
Refuge	33	10
Wauve	26	10
Fairfield	37	10
Campbell	40	10
Central Noble	37	10

Close Calls

With many hard knocks, close calls, and sheer determination, the girl's basketball team closed their season with a record of six wins and eleven losses. Although the record may not seem too good at first glance, many games were lost by only a few points.

The girls competed in the Fairfield Tourney, where they lost a close game with Bremen 34-37. However, the consolation game brought an easy victory over Bethany and placed them third.

At the annual sports banquet, Junior Deb Biller was chosen MVP by her teammates. Freshman Michelle Erickson captured the rebounding award.

It was a relatively young team, which included only one senior. Varsity sophomore Gayle Reinheimer concluded, "we had our ups and downs."

Freshmen: Front row: Terri Souk, Sharon Miller, Lisa Hoveman, Lois Miller.
Second row: Chris Bayla, Stephanie Keck, Dawn Kneighman, Lucine Paulson, Claudia Larson, Sonja Kniffman.

Anticipation is sometimes a major part of the game as the varsity waits for the ball to come down.

	W	L
Epiphany	21	52
St. Albans	19	52
Westview	18	51
NorthWood	14	73
WestWoods	11	76
Whitcomb	11	53
Whitcomb	10	55
Noble	7	58
Epiphany	7	52
Westview	7	58
St. Albans	5	65
Fairfield	4	65
Concord	3	65
Concord	2	63
St. Albans	1	65
St. Albans	0	67
Pratt	0	67

Raiders on the Hardwood

The 1980-81 campaign for the varsity basketball team was one filled with many exciting moments. Coach Pratt's squad posted a 14-8 record while playing an exciting brand of ball.

The season began on a sour note with a 53-43 loss to arch rival Goshen, but they bounced back to upset perennial power Elkhart Memorial. The Raiders then sandwiched wins over Bethany and West Noble around the NorthWood setback and then entered the Goshen Holiday Tourney. After all was said and done, they had won it, capping it off with a win over Goshen in the title game.

The Raiders thumped Wawasee immediately after the tourney, but were turned back twice at St. Joe and Whitco.

They picked themselves up quickly after the Whitco game, as they downed Lakeland 54-52 on Mike Galt's jumper from the right baseline with two ticks remaining on the overtime clock. After the Lakeland cliff-hangers came wins over Westview, Bremen, LaVie, Central Noble, and Prairie Heights, and losses to Fort Wayne Dwenger, Fairfield, and Concord. This led directly into the sectional.

The Raiders drew Jintown, whom they defeated for the second time, this time by a 63-59 ledger. The win was sweet but did not come easy. Although they held an eight-point lead for most of the contest, Jintown took a last run at the Raiders, but fell short four points. The season was brought to a close the same way it opened -- with a heartbreaking loss. The Raiders were unable to repeat their early season miracle of beating the Memorial Chargers. They were ready for the Raiders, and handed them a 65-63 defeat in the semi-finals.

The junior varsity, coached by Mr. Gary Modlin, had a 12-8 season, while the freshmen ended a disappointing 1-15.

Junior forwardman Tim Spald dunks in one of his game-leading 20 in the Raider's triumph over the Wawasee Warriors.

Setting himself on the charity line early in the Raiders' 69-62 upset of Elkhart Memorial is Tim Streef.

Center Tim Streef jumps in the opening tip-off of the Elkhart Sectional. The Raiders drew jump ball, which they defeated 61-59.

Varsity: front row: Randy Vidson, Keith Gingersh, Dennis Blye, Gregg Raab, Mike Galt, Kevin Bannagan; back row: Darrell Ritchie, Mike Jarr, Tim Gundersman, Tim Streef, Rick Grewes, Coach Ed Pratt.

Fresh: front row: Coach Don Wenzel, Jim Hackett, Mark Schlabach, Clarence Wiederman, Eric Vulliam, Tim Williams; vars: Anthony Beckwith, Gary Holland, Rick Gross, Mike Bannagan, Mike Galt, Mike Jarr, Mike Streef, Matt Brian, Tom Gundersman, Scott Miller, John Chapp, Brian Allen, Mark Royce.

Varsity: front row: Greg Elsworth, Greg Mattison, Jim Schlabach, Wes Hershberger, Lovell Foster, Doug Storkes; back row: Phil Gage, Rick Green, Eric Bradshaw, Mike Baker, Mike Gault, Coach Gary Mallin.

As fate would have it, Steve Peterson was a defender by his own half when it came off his hat and hit him square in the face.

Peterson, basketball and volleyball seasons, Sarah Miller has more than once had problems with the over-the-ankle.

The girls basketball team was not playing at disadvantage while MVP Dick Miller recovered from his injury.

People often use the expression "break a leg" when wishing someone good luck. I don't know if "legs" sometimes really do break. The leg is a skillful adventurer.

The ill-fall team football player Shawn Erickson broke his wrist. He has been seen the team's high jumper up to his knees.

Ooh! Aah! I'm All Broke up!

Be active! Get involved in sports! Stay in shape! Break your leg!

Ever heard that one before? No, Of course not. Nobody ever mentions the torn ligaments, pulled hamstrings, busted bones or athlete's foot. But keeping them quiet doesn't make them go away. And students at NHS are no exception. They had their share of little mishaps also. Naturally, some sports are more merciful than others, but no sport is even 100 percent safe.

A broken wrist put junior quarterback Shawn Erickson out for the remainder of the season. A back problem forced wrestler Scott Graber to forfeit his final match at the Green Invitational. Caron Outman was afflicted with a swollen hand during basketball season. Crutches hobbling down the halls became a familiar sight. But perhaps the cruelest of all sports was baseball.

Steve Petersen and Dave Hunt both suffered painful blows in the face, and Dave also cut his finger badly when reaching through the fence to get the ball.

It's all part of being an athlete. Even the best safety equipment can't make a sport injury-proof. So why do they do it? For the fun of it. To test their abilities. For the thrill of victory. And because it's "good for you."

Front row: Susan Hayes, Sarah Miller, Cynthia Perry, Rhonda Rhodes, Barbara Neumann.
Second row: Jennifer Hanes, Tanya Cook, Kristin Noble, Garon Altman, Jane Hostetler.
Third row: Joseph Ted Lantz, mgr. James Hochberger, mgr. Tanya Hansen, Helen Cline, Kelly Franklin, Kris Miller, mgr. Gabe Bliesinger.

	Up	Thru
Lake Land	45	60
Fairfield	50	48
Prattville	51	54
Goshen	35	72
Westview	30	75
Eastside	70	35
Bethany	59	46
North Wood	49	56
Concord	44	63
Jimmies	35	70

Rejuvenating from the 690, Garon Altman needs the support of teammates Kristin Noble and Jennifer Hanes to help her walk.

With a little speed, betwixt, and determination Susan Hayes flies through the air with the greatest of ease in the long jump.

While the 400 was Cynthia Terry's last event, she has held three other individual records, one broke her own mile record at Regionals, winning in 2:48.66 seconds.

Quality Not Quantity

Depth was not one of the girls' track team's strongest points. The team consisted of only about 11 steady members, only one of which was a senior, but they still managed to win three meets in spite of it all.

Janet Hostetler, Jennifer Hanes, and Cynthia Terry were effective in sprints and relays. Darlene Neumann was the top high jumper, as well as a sprinter. Susan Hayes showed promise in the long jump and hurdles. In the longer distances, Caron Outman (800) and Tami Hawkins (1500) did most of the work.

The highlight of the season was Cynthia Terry's record-shattering 59.4 in the 400 at the Goshen Sectional qualifying her for Regionals. However, after some confusing, frustrating organization of her priorities, Cynthia forfeited her spot at Regionals because it fell in the last week of her senior year, which was hectic, and many demands were already being made on her time. Cynthia was awarded the best field event and best sprinter awards, and Caron Outman received the best distance award.

While watching the time, Coach Linda Kaminski urges a runner on.

The 800 meter relay team was a successful one, taking many first places. Here, Jennifer Hanes (first leg) hands off to Darlene Neumann.

The 100 meter hurdle race requires more than just speed; it also takes coordination and timing, which Tami Hawkins works on.

Displaying the style and form that won him third place at the Goshen Relays is Mark Bates.

Although the 200 yards only a little over 20 seconds, it is one of the most exciting races. NHS sprinters are Steve Ambrose and Bob Oeters.

Ribbons, Relays, and Rain

The boys' track team battled the elements as well as the opposing schools and ended with a 6-5 record. Bad weather cancelled or postponed several meets — including the Sectionals.

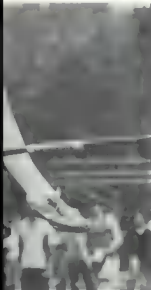

The team was not exceptionally experienced, as it only claimed two seniors, yet in spite of that fact, and also the threatening skies, the team shared the Class B Concord Relay crown with Bremen. The team also participated in the Carroll Relays and spent a long Saturday at the Goshen Relays, where they placed 14th out of 22 schools.

In spite of the postponement, Sectionals arrived. There Keith Gingerich qualified for Regionals in the 3200. He was also named overall MVP in distance. Scott Grober was named tops in field events and Mark Bates in sprints.

With a burst of energy and a look of determination, Kevin Leblond shoots from the blocks in one of the many relays run that day at Goshen.

Thoughtfully observing the action and perhaps managing to catch Ken Vancampen and Jim Evans-Mel runs.

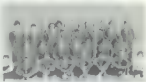

Front row: mgr. Randy Kaufman, Dennis Baker, Steve Ambrose, Jan Carpenter, Keith Gilman, L. Kevin Rhodes, Wes Henschelwer, mgr. Bob Hillier.

Second row: Jeff Fingert, Roger Kasper, Scott Gruber, Kevin Lohnd, Gary Peter, Larry Schwartz, Greg LaRue.

Third row: Kevin Hiesinger, Paul Carlin, Bob Peters, Todd Chackley, Jay Boughner, Tim Squelch, Mike Galt, Dana Kennedy.

Back row: Coach Kim Vancampen, Kevin Evans, Mark Bates, Dave Baker, Mark Purdy.

A moment of stillness and silence grips Keith Fingert's, as well as the other runners, as this will be the starting command.

Showing the end of the race mile-run, exhaustion and relief cross Keith Fingert's face.

	1 st	Time
Fairfield	81	66
Lakeland	48	74
Lincoln	80	2:00
Lakeland	21	2:00
Primo Hia	84	2:04
Groton	44	2:04
Central Middle	78	2:07
Westview	80	2:11
Bethany	70	2:11
Northview	80	2:14
West Middle	88	2:14

Front row: Mist Yoder, Liz Galt, Kim Weaver.
 Second row: Tina Gruber.
 Second row: Deeth Jeanine Roberts, Julie Streeter, Chris Trues, Cheryl Mast, Julie Merrick.
 Back row: Michelle Weaver, Dawn Goodall, Janet Mosier.

Learning to watch the ball is the hardest part of playing tennis. Kim Weaver seems to have this important hint down pat.

Rain Dampens Season

It's hard to play tennis in the rain. The balls tend to get soggy and soggy tennis balls don't bounce well at all. Despite all the inclement weather the competitive spirit of the girls' tennis team continued to grow this year.

After a five year absence from coaching tennis, Miss Jeanine Roberts was back at the Raider helm. Even though the girls ended the year with a 2-6-1 record, she felt the season was very rewarding.

The tennis team this year was made up mostly of sophomores. The only seniors on the team were Stacey Yoder and Julie Streeter. Stacey Yoder was named MVP at the Spring Sports Banquet. The future looks to be promising for the girls who have many players eligible to return next year.

Watchine to make sure that teammate Julie Merrick has everything under control. Galt

	Wins	Losses
S.H. Washington	2	0
Center, Nobile	0	6
Center, Nobile	4	0
Goodall	0	6
Goodall	1	1
Mast, Mosier	2	2
Streeter/Goodall	0	6
Trues/Mosier	3	3
Goodall	0	6

Some shots require a little extra effort to return as Michelle Weaver demonstrates here.

Following through smoothly on her forehand shot is Mia Todd.

A coach's job is never done. A lot of dedication, persistence, skill, and proper coaching go to making through the season for Mia Leano. Roberts seems to have it all under control.

Even though Mia seems to be surprised at the shots, which teammate job driver returns the ball.

The dugout provides Coach Verlyn Seifert with an excellent place to explain game strategy to the team during the Seasonal game against Mishawaka.

Who's next? Tim Uppeland waits to see how his teammate fares against Mishawaka's pitcher.

Even though it's not his turn just yet, Rob Wampler keeps a close eye on the pitch.

Hendle is the name of the game for Jeff Miller and Douglas Bly as they make their way to the dugout.

This sand trap is another place to get stuck on a golf course. Freshman Hackett finds the hole is no small.

Watching to make sure his swing is smooth and clean is Shawn Erickson.

Banner Year on the Fairways

The varsity golf team had a banner year — in fact they had the best season in school history. After finishing the regular season at a blistering 14-4-1 they headed for Sectional where they placed third and were made eligible for Regional.

Mr. Mike McCoy, who took the job as coach, has a talented group of golfers to work with, including one girl — freshman Michelle Erickson. Scott Zinkle and Shawn Erickson were the consistent medalists and shared the MVP title.

Keeping his eye on the ball is Steve Gentryman, but that ball is a little!

	1/8	Thurs
*Mishawaka, Elk Memorial	968	370, 446
Fairfield	172	203
Lakeland	174	185
Lakeland	208	204
NorthWood	201	210
NorthWood	173	210
Prairie Heights	174	219
Westview	165	185
*Wawona, South Bend Riley	331	322, 318
Central Noble	177	173
Central Noble	208	211
Jimtown	181	209
*Concord, Tippecanoe	165	174, 183
Goshen	195	185
West Noble	160	183
West Noble	201	210
*Indicates tri-meet

Front row: Michelle Erickson, Jim Hackell, Sam Hunter, Scott Kaufmann, Brian Wilcox, Jeff James.
Back row: Tim Gonderman, Matt Kihner, Scott Zeklin, Brian Erickson, Steve Gonderman, Doug Shuler.

It's definitely much easier to get into the sand trap than it is to get out of it, as Sam Hunter Erickson

Feature

Golden Gunners Shot Down

After defeating them one year earlier, the male faculty members took on the WRRR Golden Gunners in a second annual game. The Golden Gunners came back seeking revenge, and almost got it.

After trailing most of the way, sometimes by a sizable margin, the faculty managed to catch them, and the fourth quarter ended in a deadlock. The overtime bout declared them the victors by one basket, 65-64.

Coaching the team to victory was the job of team members Mr. Dennis McCrumb and Mr. Dan Weirich.

Proceeds from the game went to the Student Council, who sponsored the event.

Watching the action from the bench are: Mr. Phil Barker, Mr. Louis F. Beale, Mr. Gordon Karlman, Mr. Gerald Rader, Mr. Dan Lattin, Mr. Kevin Lips, Mr. Niki Melissano, Mr. Gary Modlin.

The intensity of an official game provides a fun and competitive atmosphere for the 181 senior players in a 5A state championship game in Astoria.

Center and forward Mr. Dan Weaver is shown at practice showing during the game and intensity of high school sports.

Practice is right, defense is important to the success of a team.

Playing defense requires quick reflexes and a clear head as Mr. Gerald Vanderstraete is shown.

Waiting for a teammate to shoot is a key skill for center Mr. Mike Finner.

All for Northridge Stand Up and Holler!

Cheerleading is one of the extra-curricular events that is even considered a sport. It is considered that because of the long hours of practice, weightlifting, jogging, and various other exercises the girls did to keep fit and healthy.

Mr. Dennis McManis was the squad's advisor and helped the girls put an emphasis on what cheerleading is really about. One new aspect this year was the weight goals and fitness program each girl controlled.

The girls agreed that summer camp was really the highlight of the year. It gave new and different cheers, plans, etc. Even more importantly, it gave them a squad, a team that sticks together. This was evident by the spirit and enthusiasm all the squads displayed. Evidently, the camp directors thought so, also, as the women's squad won the spirit stick event. As a camp reward, a superintendent, who was named the Super Star Squad and who were given the NRG spirit award. Then to top it all off, Susan Miller won the All-American Cheerleader award!

Maybe it's time someone said "hi" for the cheerleaders, stand up, and holler!

Here all five together to lead the cheer "Shout It Out!"

Varsity cheerleaders: Stacy Smith, Mary Yuba, Joa Kaufman, Sandy Miller, and Kim Davis.

Junior-varsity cheerleaders: Jane Stutzman, Jennifer Hines, Cherylann Mast, Karen Lee, and Patti Foster.

Looking out toward at the West Nidebark basketball game is senior Mary Foster.

Freshman cheerleaders: Cindy Foster, Deb Hines, Jillian Hines, and Keri Hines.

Excitement grows in the hearts of these girls as they lead the student body in cheering the team.

Another duty of the cheerleaders is to organize pep assemblies. Here Keri Harper and Patti Foster are cheering to the Northridge school song.

ACADEMICS

What interrupts evenings and runs weekends? That should be a better question: homework. It means let me take time out from important Japanese like bath, games, correspondence, and television get-togethers for awhile.

The learning can be rewarding. Just ask someone like Tim Rutherford, who's chosen a traditional "cherry blossom" poster illustration who was named the official high school design of the state, and it becomes evident that working your fingers to the bone gives you something besides home images.

The fall semester always is filled with complaints about "glave-driving" teachers, too many assignments, and students who ruin the grading curve with high grades. Students will always cry with relief at the end of a semester and say, "I'm glad that semester's over." But few will ever really wish they had not taken this last semester, regret the time and effort it cost them. Because once the research and thesis papers are handed in, the semester projects graded, the finals completed, and the rest of dead time over, the sense of accomplishment seems to drown out painful memories.

It takes a lot of creative imagination to look at a blank and see the possibilities. It's something beautiful. With this in mind, you can find the possibilities that surround you. It's a great way to make your world a better place.

Technology today is increasing at a rate almost beyond imagination, all around the world. With this increase, it has become apparent that every aspect of daily life involves some area of math. The NHS math department has made an effort to provide as wide a curriculum as possible. Included are such courses as General Math, Geometry, Algebra, Advanced Math and beginning in the 1981-82 school year, they will be offering a class in computer mathematics. The program for Geometry and Algebra is set up in such a way that the classes are divided according to the speed at which the students work and the amount of depth in study which is required for an individual's future plans. The math department is headed up by Mr. Ken Vontguten. Also teaching in this area are Mr. Dennis McCrumb, Mrs. Rhonelle Jones, and Mr. Phil Hartzler.

The Third "R"

Free time to work on their homework assignments gives these students in Geometry a chance to have their questions answered by their teacher, Mr. Ken Vontguten.

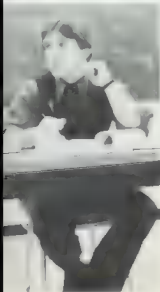

Circles, squares, triangles, and other geometric figures seem to fascinate sophomore Janet Hartzler, as she hustles to complete her homework assignment in Geometry.

Neither Geog. 101, nor an exam in Advanced Math, can take the fun out of Pasadena (and these men: Grimmy Mike, Paul, Tim, Cap, and Jeff Miller make the best of any situation).

Even then, is the winter class have a seminar with Donna Mike (and gets down to some serious business while Advanced Math class is in session).

Another fun day in Geometry A has sophomores Mark Bates and Tim Spradlin working intently on their homework. But who's the Kona Lisa grin on Tim's face?

Patience is a virtue for geometry teacher, Mr. Dennis McElrath, as he listens with interest to a problem posed by one of his students.

Pushing Toward Technology

The science department has been expanding over the past few years, this year being no exception.

Classes available to students looking to expand their own knowledge are: General Science, Biology, Chemistry, Earth and Space, Conservation, Advanced Biology, and Physics.

First year teacher Mr. Chris Colburn stated that "Because of increasing technology and the fact that we are pushing more to science, I feel it is becoming more of a necessity to learn the basics of science."

The computer craze is sweeping the country and machines can be programmed to do just about anything, but someone has to program them.

Answering questions with the help of their books during a lab experiment are Jim Van Soek, Mike Hall, Mardal Andrewin, and Deanna Bradley.

Assisting Fern Franco and Marcy Troyer with a lab is third-year biology teacher Mrs. Harriet Green.

In the process of dissecting a worm are James Yoder, Robert Bell, Scott Gaddens, and Kyle Bontrager.

The basics of Chemistry are what Mr. Keith Colburn teaches while preparing to answer a student's question.

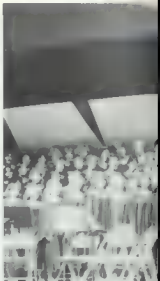

During Chemistry, Mr. Dave Willy adjusts the flame on the Bunsen burner.

On the day of their Physics semester final Dean A. Yoder, Charles Wisting, Mike Randall and Roger Cave wear their Mr. Wisting Lou Club shirts in an attempt to embarrass him.

Under the direction of Mr. Gerald Barber, the Concert Choir spends the time, morning of Christmas past, here, and understands. This particular concert was performed before the student body. Another concert was given for the general public.

Senior technician Jim Sivonen studies his music intently during the instrumental part of the Christmas concert. Jim is part of a brass ensemble which performed a number of Yuletide favorites.

During an all school assembly, the choir performed a number of songs with the accompaniment of Janet York and Teresa Toranzo on the piano.

The camera has caught Miss Urey in a familiar pose. Here she leads an ensemble of horn players during a school assembly.

Filling the Halls With Song

The halls in Northridge were filled with the sounds of music this year. The many students who participated in the vocal and instrumental aspects of the Northridge Music Department contributed to many of the school activities.

The students in the three choirs, Concert, Freshmen and Sound of Friends, can feel especially proud of their performance at the contests in which they participated. They won 450 medals and sent 20 groups to the state contest in Indianapolis. The Sound of Friends, the music department's own public relations group, who gave an average of two concerts a month for community organizations and toured the elementary schools in April, placed first at the Swing Choir Contest.

The instrumental part of the music department also did a fine job. Concert Band, Pit Band, Pep Band, and Marching Band, along with the auxiliary unit, performed at several contests, athletic events, and concerts. The Marching Band went to state contest again this year. The Pit Band also played a vital part in the success of the school musical "Of Thee I Sing."

Band and auxiliary members are seated in the band room anxiously waiting for their turn to go to contest.

Ring-out your heart out! Senior Jim Lantz needles himself for a few minutes.

Keeping Physically Fit

Learning to work as a team and improving individual skills is taught to all in P.E. classes. Throughout the year students take part in games and new sports. Summer P.E. offers even more of a variety with swimming, golf, and bowling.

These students learn why physical activity is so good in health class. Projects, bulletin assignments, movies, and lectures are all included during the year.

Smiling faces in this class prove that health education is a boring subject after all.

Pen in position to take notes: Linda Kauffman, Cynthia Turry and Jean Schultz listen attentively to Mr. Dennis McGinnis.

As Kathy Schumann cheers them on, these girls take part in a basketball game.

Excitement mounts as the freshman and sophomore girls "shoot stuff" in a fast-paced basketball game.

It looks like Sue Yoder is in total control of her power as she comes in with a determined look on her face.

Listening carefully to a student who asks a question is Mr. Dennis Klotz, coach, during health class.

As she seriously works on her assignment, Chris Grotman receives help from Mrs. Jan Homish.

Making it look so easy, Jerrit Shuler weaves both design and creativity in her project.

It looks like Greg Williams is "getting into the thick of things" as he reclains clay in Three Dimensional Design class.

"Caught Up" in Creativity

Contrary to what some may think, art is not just a class to get an extra credit in nor only for those who have a talent for just drawing and painting.

The art department offers a variety of subjects which include weaving and textiles, drawing and painting, three dimensional design and two introductory classes, Art 1 and 2.

Students are encouraged to use their imagination in the design and creativity of their projects. This means much thought and time spent on every weaving, sculpture, and painting.

Mrs. Hornish stated that the purpose of the art program is... to provide experiences for growth in the ability to communicate through original and creative visual statements about personal ideas, values, and feelings; to promote an acceptance and understanding of the artistic expression of others."

Add some sound to the picture and the classroom would come alive with the students actively working on their projects.

Hands and mind always work together as demonstrated by Kris Harper.

Finishing the stringing of her loom, Rhonda Rhodes gives a big smile as she ends the first step for her weaving.

Peers are often the best source of constructive criticism, as the American Lit. class finds out while proofreading their papers.

The sign reads "Sentences diagrammed in-finitive split, particles dangled while you wait." Perhaps that is what Miss Mary Zimmer is in the process of doing.

The L.A. 9 class listens to Miss Thomas speak on one of a variety of subjects that the course covers.

Study time isn't quite always used for studying. Lori Puckett finds it is also a good time to paint her fingernails.

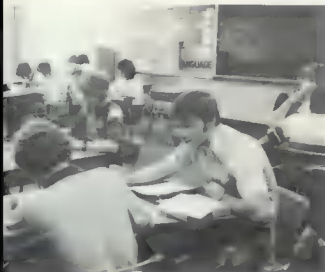

Shakespeare, Speeches, and the World of L.A.

The Language Arts curriculum covers a broad spectrum. It begins with L.A. 9 and 10, the basics of grammar and sentence structure. After that, students may choose from a number of electives.

Self Identity is a course designed to help the student find out who he is by taking a good look at values and personality. Science Fiction is a course built around the realm of the supernatural and unexplainable. Mythology students deal with meanings of the ancient myths. In Short Story, students learn how to write a good short story through plenty of practice and reading. Mass Media students learn the basic aspects of the various media: T.V., radio, film, advertising, and the printed word are outlined. Creative Writing students learn to use writing talents in a creative way through poetry, short stories, and other forms of verse. Novel students, of course, read novels while Drama students study drama as literature and performance. Speech students learn the "do's" and "don'ts" of public speaking, and Journalism students learn about the journalistic business and put out the school paper "The Lance."

The more advanced electives are the college prep classes. In American Lit., students learn about the different works of American authors while British Lit. students study British authors and their works. Those in Advanced Communications learn the English language inside and out and also spend the better part of the semester writing research papers.

American Lit., being a collage prep course, usually leaves very little time for goofing off. Jamie Uredack, Ron Troyer, and Jon Carpenter wait for class to be called to order.

Although the English Lit. curriculum has a wide breadth, the L.A. 10 course is a lot. Lori Yoder takes class time to complete hers.

They Mean Business

Working with dollars and cents appeals to the many students enrolled in the various business courses that are offered. Students who take Introduction to Business learn the fundamentals and the theories of the business world. In Accounting I and II, students learn to balance a hypothetical budget by working through a ledger. In Typing I and II, students work on improving their typing skills. Personal Typing is a one semester course designed to help the student learn the basics of typing, but does not place as much emphasis on speed.

Those wishing to go on in secretarial work can get practice and credit by taking office practice.

But whether it's Business Machines or Shorthand, the student is becoming prepared for an occupation much in demand, and they do mean business.

Signs and bulletin boards advise students to be smart shoppers and travel wisely.

Intently studying his accounting is Junior Chris Fisher.

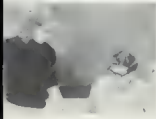

Trip accounting does require a bit of extra time, but it's not bad. Scottus Wayne Nettles can't and Phil Schwartz are still trading.

Taking accounting for Consumer Economics is Miss Shari Took. This required course is usually taken the sophomore year.

One can almost hear the rattling keys and the ringing bells of these Typing I students who are busy polishing up on their skills.

Checking Michigan Robinson's accounting is Mr. Gary Modlin.

Surely the smiles displayed on the faces of Greg Jensen, Gary O'Hall, Mike Tate, Todd Rhulius and Greg Schuchman's teacher 11th Government class.

Some students are more interested in Economics than others. Dennis Graham, Mark Harbo and Kevin Lemminger listen intently while Jim Carpenter appears to be turning his attention toward other matters.

Kim Davis conceded, sleeping or just concentrating really hard? Actually she and Gary Miller are ignoring the camera during their 11th History class.

It's often hard for a teacher to capture and hold a student's undivided attention. Kent Knuffman takes a moment to rest his eyes during Government while Jim Winkard seems to be having a good time.

Mr. Wilcox demonstrated a tremendous amount of interest in his students while presenting a question period by running Greg Eash.

The Study of Past, Present and Future

Social Studies is a basic area of study in all schools. Every student is required by law to have a minor in this area. This minor is achieved by taking two required courses, U. S. Government, U. S. History, and one elective. Students can choose between Sociology, Economics, and World Problems. The department is headed up by Mr. Paul Wilkey. Also teaching in this area are Mr. Mike McCoy and Jill Meninick.

It may seem difficult to students to make Social Studies interesting, but teachers try to enliven the classes in different ways. For instance, the history classes have regular current event games, the government classes occasionally have the chance to visit a real courtroom, and the sociology classes have interesting discussions and projects.

While waiting for teacher Mrs. Jill Meninick to call class in order, seniors Stacy Stutz, Natalie Smith, Missy Mahaffie, Don Dontraper, Phil Miller, and Thomas Grubbs take some time to relax and get organized.

Although senior Doug Deuch appears to be taking Economics seriously, his classmate Chris Fisher looks more amused than anything.

Eventually reading something funny in their Spanish books, Lori Yoder, Emily Miller and John Carpenter smile while others translate a story.

Pointing to the map to show a point, speaker Mr. Barth has the full attention of all in the room.

There's always time for a little fun as Mr. Barth jokes with Shawn Santiago and Carlos Alonzo.

The Foreign Connection

Come one, come all? Many here gracias. Wie geht es Ihnen? Gut, danke.

This is an example of what the 1st year students of foreign language learn. Also included in just the first year is learning the grammar of present and past tense verbs. Regular spelling words are given to add to the vocabulary of the students. The 2nd year student should be able to carry on a conversation with a small amount of difficulty. The 3rd year student then is directed toward gaining fluency.

But learning a language isn't all work and no play. Skits, movies, games and songs are all part of the courses. The Spanish class made pinatas and a meal complete with appetizers and desserts. The German class was treated with a lecture by a man from Germany and learned much about the culture.

Learning a different language is both interesting and fun. In addition to learning to speak Spanish or German, students open their minds to experience and understand the customs of a whole different country and world.

This Spanish class has fun while they work together translating sentences.

With their feet up and lounging back, Kevin Edmond and Shawn Edelson seem to think that German isn't too tough, but Mr. Frazzer stands by to take care of them.

Taking time out of a teacher's busy schedule, Spanish teacher Mrs. Maunick reads about the Mexican trip.

Learning to Economize

What's home economics all about? It's learning to sew, cook a variety of foods, manage a budget, plan balanced meals, spend money wisely, can and freeze foods, do needlepoint, knit, decorate, organize, and much, much more. In this day and age, both guys and girls can benefit from these classes. The time-saving steps and practical approaches to situations that need to be handled in everyday living are of value to everyone. So for a glimpse of what life today is like, take a look at the Home Economics Department at NHS.

Home Arts is co-taught by Mrs. Janet Longfellow and Miss Sheri York. Here they seem to be mutually pondering a question being raised by one of their students.

Cake decorating can be both fun and creative. Guest speaker, Mrs. Yoder, demonstrates the second hour Home Arts class the paper technique in this line art.

Marking patterns can be tricky. Here Cynthia Terry concentrates intently on her Advanced Clothing project.

Many hours need to be spent by Sharon Bromberger at the sewing machine before her blazer will be completed.

Helping Lin Galt with her recipe cards is Miss Sharon Tokok.

Listening intently to the instructions given to them by Miss Nelda Snider during their Clothing Class are Lisa Gustafson and Valerie Tash.

Clipping fruits and vegetables requires time and the helping hands of Fort Yoder. Sherrie Miller, Mike Grant and Mike Fletcher.

Sparks fly as Brian Brentner grinds a chisel on the grinding wheel. Other outstanding metal projects were a gyroscope, a vase, and a cannon.

Wood projects varied this year from a grandfather clock to a pool table, china cabinet to several desks, etc. Here Mike Baker is working on his cabinet.

Pushing out tapes on the videoterminal is one assignment in Graphic Arts as shown by Jim Snowden.

A common sight is that of Mr. Gordon Kaufman helping his sons. One such student is Todd Peter.

Assistance is offered by Ms. Don Weirich as he helps Matt Kilmer lay out flats for a football playbook.

The Art of Industry

Precision, patience, accuracy, and imagination are all a part of the "art" of industry. Again this year students have shown their "knack" for combining these qualities. Teachers, Mr. Don Weirich, Mr. Gordon Kauffman, and Mr. Phil Berkey are all responsible for the good record our Industrial Arts department has set.

The areas in which students may explore are: Metals, Woods, Power and Transportation, Drafting, Graphic Arts, and Electricity. Each class is designed to give a broad, general, basic understanding of the skill. While Mr. Don Weirich said, "it is strictly an exposure for most students," he also mentioned that, "for some it can be an adventure."

Girls can learn too as Jody Johnston is proving in her drafting class.

"Drafting is a language—by way of pictures," says Mr. Gordon Kauffman. Eric Volman, Paul Collier, and Scott Mockler are a few of the students who are learning this language.

PEOPLE

Anticipation builds among Russian onlookers as they hope to catch the shuttle on "live" television. They're gathered in the vicinity of what may be a launch site.

The 1999 census took in millions of them. They were launched into orbit in the computer-delayed space shuttle. They were brought together during uncertain times, like the assassination of the first president, Reagan and the 144 long days the U.S. Embassy was under the gun in Iran. They were torn apart over controversy like the challenge to the attack the left registered. They were even held in suspicion for the answer to the question, "What about RF?"

People. When most of our entire country is under a cloud of things we've been told to think. It takes a lot of knowledge and a world's economy holds its breath. Officials take care of the nation's future. They make the best of the future and sometimes someone else's yesterday. There's some on the ground, and the matter has been so long to take a step forward with gratitude and a feeling there is still something to be done.

As empty human factory, on whose business is nothing more than the very element. It's the people that make it solid gold.

Seniors
The Class of 1981

Class Motto:

Each happiness of today is a memory for tomorrow.

Class Colors:

Champagne and Ice Blue

Class Flower:

White rose

SENIORS

The Class With Class

Pres. Greg Slabach
V.P. Jim Lantz
Sec. Treas.
Paula Wallman

Suzy Adamson
Cheryl Adkins
Paul Baskin
Ken Busch

Tony Bontrager
Sharon Bontrager
Joel Hougden
Ray Boylan

Tamie Braddock
Brian Heiniser
Laurie Bremser
Julie Bryant

Shari Burkholder
Tony Galabrese
Shari Gard
Alan Cattell

Roger Cave
Kevin Christner
Tami Cline
Scott Cooper

Tim Copeland
Scott Cripe
Sue Cross
Mark Darby

Mark Doters
Justin Dirks
Mike Eash
Jean Futerer

Chris Fry
Tim Gage
Mike Galt
Thomas Gaurme

Although the boys could win the spirit week contest, the girls' singing pleased. Sherry Yoder appears to be more than a little anxious to get down.

Scott Gieroux
Keith Gieroux
Tim Ginderman
Lori Gindl

Dennis Graber
Nancy Greensides
Lori Gustafson
David Harwood

Lynn Hershberger
Tanna Hershberger
Tan Hinebaugh
Carolyn Hochstetler

Scott Hoover
Ron Hoult
Todd Howard
Todd Hruby

Julie Hughes
Dove Hunt
Jeff James
Bill Johnson

Darin Kauffman
Darwin Kauffman
Diane Kauffman
Kent Kauffman

Linda Kanffman
Jen Kindel
Kelly Kapf
David Lantz

Ann Ludwig
Pam Magyar
Melissa Mahaffa
Gayle Mansfield

Mark Mast
Matt Merrick
Charles Miller
Cletis Miller

Dale Miller
Dawn Miller
Don Miller
Jeff Miller

Phil Miller
Sally Miller
Sandy Miller
Mindy Minnear

Tina Moore
Wayne Nathornalt
Ngoc Nguyen
Jody Nihant

Clary O'Hell
Doug Paschy
Rodney Paschy
Kim Thendleton

Steve Petersen
Lisa Pratt
Dexter Prangh
Michael Randolph

This year's winners have already been known for their exceptional abilities and to demonstrate them and to show the public & demonstrate them.

The library is a great place for some deep concentration. Mistia Wastler takes advantage of some free time to get some research done.

Shelly Rassi
Steven Rhude

Cliff Rivers
Mark Roubuck

Michaelson Robinson
Jack Rogers
Lincoln Roy

Toni Rutherford
Joe Sanford
Aurelio Santiago

Kellie Sarew
Jim Schmucker
Barb Schrock
Bill Schrock

Phil Schwartz
Greg Secuson
Anita Slabaugh
Kevin Smith

Natalie Smith
Jim Snowden
Robyn Stauder
Darla Stout

Missy Stout
Julie Strowter
Penny Stricker
Shary Stutz

The games seniors play? Tary Salabrese and Brian Wilcox get involved in Spring Week activities during the wiggles races.

Bob Stutzman
Dan Tackett
Michael Farr
Cynthia Terry

Don Thomas
Teresa Torrance
Ron Troyer
Valerie Troyer

Monica Warstler
Tim Weaver
Cara Wiggins
Brian Wilcox

Greg Wilson
Jim Vengard
SuAnn Woodlee
Charles Wysong

A. Dean Yoder
Alberta Yoder
Anita Yoder
Brent Yoder

Dean Yoder
Mary Yoder
Patsy Yoder
Janel York

Patrick Yowell
Jill Zaboli
Scott Zirkle
Jill Zook

NOT PICTURED

Cheryl Fisher
Tom Rhoads
Allen Ringle
Stacey Yoder

Having Fun in '81

Wednesday, May 13, the night of the senior banquet was quite a contrast to the Pledge, which has taken place every last day earlier. The dignified atmosphere was set aside for cheering and shouting and herals and hoers were left far behind. Most seniors came in their own comfortable clothes. (With the exception of Scott Hunter who arrived wearing a three-piece suit.)

The banquet was a warm and, with students bringing the term assumed to their best. Following the dinner, the movie "The Bonnie Amishmen" was shown, which was the team effort of Cary O'Dell, Jim Lantz, Ken Beachy and Mitch Slabach. The evening ended with the presentation of the awards to the students, chosen by their classmates, as having certain outstanding qualities: features, abilities, and potentials.

The results were as follows:

Most Athletic — Keith Gingrich

Chris Tracy

Friendliest — Steve Petersen

Julia Bryant

Funniest — Brian Wilcox

Berry Adamson

Most Dressed — Wayne Nothardt

Kelly Kopf

Class Clown — Alan Gallet

Kellie Narver

Most Likely to Succeed — Cary O'Dell

Jim Lantz

Most Huggable — Jim Lantz

Paul Yoder

Most Talkative — Dave Lantz

Tom Bontner

Class Hero — Mike Egan

Tom Pringle

Most Spirited — Tom Bontner

Scott Miller

Most Musical — Dennis O'Dell

Travis Turner

Best Actor/Actress — Chris Miller

Steve Yoder

Best Friend — Greg Slabach

Paul Smith

Class Burn — Mike Miller

Paul Meyer

Class Radical — Tom O'Dell

Paul Meyer

Smartest — Roger Galt

Ann Ludwig

Best Body — Phil Schwartz

Mary Yoder

Brown Nose — Cary O'Dell

Mary Yoder

Proudest — Todd Froly

Steve Yoder

Armchair Quotidian — Mike Egan

Mike Smith

It was an evening filled with merriment and laughter, as the award presentation preceded "The Bonnie Amishmen."

Left to right are Kellie Narver (Class Clown), Dave Lantz and Jim Lantz (Most Talkative), Tom Bontner and Sandy Miller (Most Spirited), and Steve Yoder (Best Smile).

As class president Greg Slabach announces the next lucky winner, Phil Schwartz (Best Body), Steve Adamson and Brian Wilcox (Funniest) and Steve Petersen (Friendliest) wait in the background.

"Most Athletic" seniors Cynthia, Mary and Keith Gingrich smile after being presented their awards.

Class officers for 1972-73: "Miss Thug-gible", and Pam Wallace handed out awards to those chosen. In front are Tony Slater, 1st runner-up; Todd Brady, 2nd runner-up; Kelly Kept and Wayne Ketherington, 3rd runner-up; and Teresa Lee and Dennis Leakey (Miss Musical).

Brammington has lost for the second time. But, that accepted the "American Quarterback" award to Mike Kethschewer, Texas.

Pregnant Todd Brady congratulates Tony Calabrese on being named the "Class Rascal".

Feature

Seemingly not familiar with Northridge's senior tradition of putting a lounge on the roof would think this scene quite strange, but not to the seniors.

Caught at the scene of this game are Tony Himminger, Tim Copeland, Jeff Miller, Greg Malachuk, Sam Zinko, Eric Case, Todd Hanks, and Scott Hanson.

At the end of marching season Muscatine always gives some token of appreciation for this year the senior military members and band members really united themselves by creating their own spirit.

For some reason students find an unexpected area in which they converge. As has been, it is here along seniors are often found wearing their "lounge" on the island.

The seniors have always been the heart of the cheering sections and that spirit and energy is displayed here as the seniors support their athletic building pyramid.

Senior Traditions

They are more than just habits; they are traditions! Whether it's a family tradition like getting together for Christmas dinner, a country's tradition like celebrating the Fourth of July, or a school's tradition like playing the school song before a game, they're all important to the people who uphold them. Sometimes the original meaning is forgotten but new meanings are soon attached.

Seniors seem to be the keepers of tradition at Northridge. The traditions begin to accumulate and every year it seems like there's more of them. They add to the history of the many seniors keep. They add responsibility but they also add a lot of good times.

Whatever the reason may be, traditions seem to be here to stay. They draw people together and give everyone, especially the seniors, a special attitude and lots of fond memories.

Senior recognition is an annual thing, hence, once the auxiliary members are shown, follows the pep lunch, concert band, cheer, and sports activities.

Senior girls have spirit too, or at least spirit. The custom of the senior girls doing a skit for a pep session is called out here by Suzi Adamson, Tina Monte, Missy Mahaffey, Natalie Smith, and Monica Weenies.

At the end of the year students have many mixed feelings. Generally, though, the seniors are happy and when the number 1 is pulled off the wall - everybody knows.

"Oh wow!" says Miss Olney, receiving a Big Bicycle from the senior band members and many others who generously contributed. Every year they give her something and every year Miss Olney expresses her appreciation by saying "Oh wow!"

Juniors

Pres. Jay Kaufman
V.P. Scott Talley
Sec. Kim Davis
Treas. Rob Wardler

Steve Ambrose
Chairman Andrew
Byron Ambrose
Dave Barker
Mike Barker
Larry Bonfleur

Bob Butler
Dennis Blythe
DeWayne Hestenger
Missie Hestenger
Dennis Beaum
Emily Bryant

Rob Butler
Kathy Butterworth
Jon Cardender
Stephanie Coleman
Paul Coulley
Brent Coggett

Dennis Goss
Bob Goss
Dean Goss
Joan Davis
Donna Davis
Loren DeKay

Bob Dotson
David Dilmers
Willis Dymally
George Eash
Rebecca Ellis

Shawn Erickson
Kevin Evans
Luis Fajal
Chris Fisher
Crystal Forbes

Greg Franklin
Wayne Frazier
Rick Gage
Jerry Garber
Tim Gevert

Intense concentration shows on the face of Emily Bryant as she studies.

Accounting has its ups and downs and Chris Fisher appears to be in one of the downs here. His attention seems to be focused more on Kasei Hueley than on his books.

Steve Goodisman
Bernard Ganselrich Dob Goody
Scott Grabe
Rick Groves

Christina
Kalylo Hankins
Jim Hansen
Kris Harper
Lynne Hori

Doris Hansen
Dana Henschinger
Jan Henschinger
L. Michaelson
Brian J. Lee

Shirley Hochstetler
Ron LaBelleson
Rita H. Nelson
Brad Hodes
Kathy Hodes

Gail Hughes
Dale Jewell
Sherry Johnson
Jeff Kaufman
Kathy Kaufman

Rhonda Rhodes searches for letters as Sarah Miller signs a yearbook

Kris Harper glances at papers in one of her classes

James Kline
Charlotte Kneip
Steve Krah

Robin Lathson
Jerry Lawson
Paul Leedy

Kevin Ludinski
Kath Ludwig
H. Larry Munn

Dennis Mast
Jennifer Muehling
Anthony Miller
Steve Miller

Ed Miller
Ken Miller
Marion Miller
Melanie Miller

Fern Vester and Randy Wilson chuckle over accounting procedure.

Robert Miller
Sarah Miller
Ted Miller
Cheryl Adams
Linda Johnson
Gary Nelson

Robert Johnson
Edward Page
Todd Miller
Mark Ward
John Ruppert
Dale Ruckelshaus

Yes, book signing can be a lot like an event to the experts as in the faces of Ede Baller, Joe Kaufman, Keri Yoder, Rusty Isenberger, Ken Harris and Kassi Healey.

Hannah Kormer
Rhonda Rhodes
Jimmie Schuch
Barb Schuch
Brynn Schuch

Terri Schuch
Lacey Schwartz
Dana Schuch
Dana Schuch
Lori Schuch

Tim Homaner
Todd Staley
Lynn Stout
Lynn Stump
Mike Thornton

Mike Tinsler
Mike Tinsler
Lynn Weirich
Robert Whitstone
Randy Wilson

Frank Wynne
Kerry Yoder
Dale Yoder

NOT PICTURED

Elizabeth Griffin
Patty Griffin
Linda Hoffman
Dana Hunsell
Arne Skafer
Pam Siler
Linda Staloch
Todd Smucker
Kent Sullivan

The western look has evolved in recent years with cowboy hats, leather chaps, and boots replacing the cowboy in the fash.

Different expressions are given by those that wear this famous brand name jeans. Either they're rich or they sacrifice all else to buy a pair of Calvin Klein's for they cost about $42.

Girls and guys today both strive to find the "fit" that shows for them.

Today the "fit" styles vary anywhere from the "and finally" gubba to the "perfectly proper" to a "simultaneous heteronorm" that is wearing anything from flannel shirts and jeans to shiny sequined and top-down.

Top sides flats, best shoes, no more walking all over school.

There's nothing that feels better than "popping up" than to slip into a favorite pair of faded old jeans with a Levi's.

Anybody that's anybody wears loads on their body. Not really, but with jeans and sneakers, become popular animals seen crawling all over shirts and sweaters.

Familiar Actions and Duds at School

People like to feel accepted. While persons should be judged on who they are as a person, many times judgments are made at first by the way they look. Really, there is no right or wrong way to dress but rather a matter of what is accepted or well-liked by the general public. People's standards change, though, and this is what creates fads.

Certain items really stood out as popular: loads, clothing with alligators on them have become something almost everyone desires. Why does a shirt with an alligator on it seem more desirable than one without it? It's the fad. Or why are straight-legged jeans so often seen when ten years ago "ball-bottoms" were "in"? It's the fad. Remember all the top-siders students wore? Some even had a few different colored pairs for different outfits. Then there were the various types of braiding hair that even whole cheer-leading squads from other schools adopted.

But clothing and hair styles aren't the only things that create fads — dances, games, activities, etc. also become popular "crazes". This year Popeye foldars were the thing to carry, a popular expression was "go for it", and common games to pass time were the Rubick's cube and various computer games.

Although seemingly very important in students' lives, the now familiar actions and duds at school will continue to be replaced by new fads and "crazes" in later years.

Hairstyles also vary and have their own adventures. A common look is the willy feathered hair like Pam Scler's and the french-braiding of Jennifer's. (Lorraine Newman's)

Sophomores

Pres. Mitch Blalock
V.P. Cindy Miller
Sec. Sandra Miller

Matthai Anderson
Harley Baker
Mark Babbs
Dave Baumgartner
Alyse Berger
Dana Biss

Charlene Bontrager
Kyle Bontrager
Tori Bontrager
Todd Bontrager
Sara Bontrager
Mary Bowman

Lee Bradlock
Wes Bryson
Mark Burkhead
Paul Carlin
Mike Caspell
Jeff Carpenter

Came Clark
Ruth Collins
Mike Conklin
Dana Cox
Fred Crane
Gary Crockett

Kathy Gifford
Mike Buckholder
Kerry Davis
Lori Dick
Dave Dickel
Rhonda Dunlap

Roger Eash
Valerie Eash
Greg Elwick
Doug Estelger
Sherril Emanuel Tamie Feather

Rob Edler
Pam Fisher
Dennis Folger
Tonna Folger
Judy Foster
Debbie Fowler

Greg Fry
Jude Frither
Phil Gage
Elizabeth Galt
Caryn Gindler
Joe Goume

The class of '83 is known for its skill at the various games played during Spirit Week. Lydell Toyer demonstrates his ability during the Ping Pong Relay.

Class rings are an important part of the year for many sophomores. Teresa Truitt and partners to Adele Doug Shabaz's class ring on March 6, the day it was delivered.

Renee Chubbens
Dawn Gerschl
Pam Condemner
Diane Gerschl
Lisa Gould
Tina Giesler

Gary Grant
Charles Gray
Curtis Gray
Rick Groom
Lisa Gustafson
Chris Hackler

Tom Hamerton
Jennifer Harris
Chris Harshberger
Susan Hayes
Doug Heibling
Debbie Henderson

Vil Horta Blonger
 Kay-Doree Blonger
 Tamara Higgins
 Tracy Hottel
 Mark Hottel

Brenda Holaway
 Stephanie Holdeman
 Rhonda Holdeman
 Cindy Hood
 Janet Hood

Marlene Hooty
 Janice Hooty
 Terrie Houser
 Deb Hunt
 Loren Howard

Elaine Hunt
 Sheryl Hays
 Jill Kaufman
 Joann Kaufman
 Karl Kaufman

Trudy Klein
 Angie Koppert
 Rhonda Koppert
 Matt Kilmer
 Chae Kunkle

Matt Krause
 Kim Kuntz
 Kelly Lacy
 Ann Lacy
 Kelly Lacy

Cheryl Lambright
Barry Long
Greg Luthin
Steven Longhlin
Dana Lutherman

Karen Lee
Todd Lehnman
Marie Lelo
Julie Ludwig
Hung Chi Ly

Quang Le
Beth McBride
Dorothy McClane
Ken McGowan
Bill McGuire

Andy Mahalla
Angie Mack
Cheryl Mason
Sharon Mason
Greg Matheson

Julie Merrick
Chris Middleton
Arlene Miller
Cory Miller
Dianne Miller

Julie Miller
Randy Miller
Shelly Miller
Greg Moser
Trudi Mulholland

Stephanie Neumann
Tom Neumann
Lisa Neumann
Dorlene Neumann
Kristen Noble
Tina Noel

Nancy Neumann
Rick Neumann
Carol Nimman
Carl Peter
Monica Pfannh
Susan Piekrell

Lisa Pöcher
Tim Pratt
Lori Puckett
Teresa Ragdale
Cecile Rheinhart
Kevin Rhinley

Shelly Rouse
Dana Rouse
Greg Roberts
Marlene Ross
Irene Sanford
Tim Schlichter

Jan Schreier
Joni Schreier
Sharon Seidman
Frank Schulz
Doug Shorley
Doug Stalbach

Stephanie Smith
Tom Spauldin
Chris Stahl
Dwaine Stewart
Rocky Stone
Dale Street

Look at how friendly the neighbors are!
Here, Lori Buckett and Mark Stabach demonstrate this friendly attitude at Twin Horns during state land contest.

Susan Stangor
Kern Stangor
Jane Stutzman

Anna Stabach
Dana Martz
Mark Thomas

Laura Thompson
Stacy Todd
Lyndell Truitt
Patti Truitt
Shelly Trover

Titia Truitt
Chris Truitt
Jason Van Sonk
Tim Wade
Cherla Watson

Kim Wessner
Monte Wessner
Chris Wiestman
Greg Williams
Kim Willis

Roger Watson
Christa Myer
Andy Foster
David Foster
Don Yoder

Johnnie Yoder
Lynn Yoder
Lynn Yoder
Shirley Yoder
Miss Yoder

Wayne Yoder
Carol York
Christopher Towell

Becoming involved in the school and its activities is important to many students, and many begin their involvement then sophomore year. Here, Julie Ludwig practices a flag routine in preparation for a performance.

Scott Felt
Ken Hennings
Scott Hennings
Dana Felt
Earl Miller
Dennis Miller
Lisa Trevis

Freshmen

Prof. Lian Ruan
V.P. Heekeren
see Yarn, Hoskins

Brian Aldred
 Collette Andrews
 Teresa Archer
 Thomas Baker
 Eric Barnett
 Chen Baylis

Ray Bell
Hill Series
Flores Hushup
Darwin Henningsen
Steve Henningsen
Todd Henningsen

Rosezilla Bornträger
Jay Boughner
John Bourdon
Penny Burkett
Karen Cull
Dan Campbell

Joy Garlin
Robert Gershwin
Todd Grubbs
John Hupp
Robyn Klein
Paul Collins

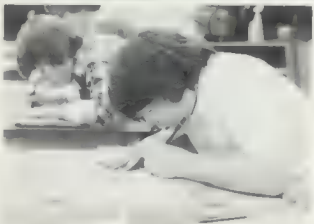

Ernest Cook
 Claudia Carlson
 Scott Craig
 Jim Deaton
 Shanna Erick
 Ward Thelen

Tracy Eash
 Pauline Elias Michelle Erickson
 Dan Fells
 Jeff Fingede
 Brad Fisher

Velta Fruttye
 Jan Fruttye
 Yolanda Frank
 Kelly Franklyn
 Fern Franklin
 Larry Gage

It's the first year at Northridge and along with the fun come the classes. Eric Rumbell, Dave Kauffman, and Jay Doughner appear to be enjoying with drafting.

Some of the things a teacher expects you to know are hidden! Mark Reyes appears to be just another student in his teacher Mr. Davis' Wellbeing a General Science class.

Scott Gauder
Jeff Grubbe
Mike Grant
Mark Jethi Grooms
Tim Hackett

Kim Hansen
Kari Hankens
Karin Hankens
Tammie Hansen
Tom Heltunga

Jerry Hensberger
Mark Hilborn
Rud Hirs
Paul Hirsberger
Tracy Holden

Wendy Hinkelmann
 Tracy Hurland
 Sara Hunsaker
 Dan Huestler
 Teresa Huestler

Shari Hunsley
 Anna Huber
 Matt Hughes
 John James Josh Johnson

Susan Johnson
 Lisa Kautzman
 Kristi Kaufman Sonja Kaufman Kim Kaufman

Scott Kaufman
 Stephanie Kerk
 Mary Kester
 Anna Kelley
 Tammy Kline

Kris Kline
 Brian Kolka
 Gloria Kriegerbaum
 Loretta Kuhl
 Evelyn Kuhl

Lisa Lachlimer
 Jennifer Leland
 David Lunde
 Laura Luthers
 Loren Marz

Debbi Mayer
Rocky Meyer
Joel Miller
Craig Miller
John E. Miller

John R. Miller
John C. Miller
Kendall Miller
Kevin Miller
Kris Miller

Lots Miller
Misch Miller
Scott Miller
Sharon Miller
Sherrie Miller

Tammie Mills
Scott Morkler
Tony Mounie
Dan Patrick
Lorette Paulson

Pam Prochy
Lisa Piderman
Mike Plesther
Terry Ragsdale
Anne Ringbecker

Kevin Race
Robin Rank
Dean Rowland
Susan Ross
Mark Bryco

The Senior formal highlights the year for many freshmen. Tony Robinson and Sue Taylor show their creative talents as they decorate the cafeteria for the dance night.

Debbie Kiefer
Mark S. Blalock
Gary Schrick

Kathy Schueneman
Julie Schwartz
Ron Schueneman

Linda Staloch
Donna Smith
Kim Smith

Teri Simon
Scott Strickman
Rud Sutton
Thay Swisher
Laura Tackett
Rufus Tashir

Steve Taylor
Cheri Tharp
Diane Thomas
Sharon Todd
Brian Tomlinson
April Trayer

Mary Trayer
Rob Tubbs
Lisa Tyson
Jeff Ulrey
Tim Vullman
Kristie Waltes

Trebatum has spent the Freshmen seasonators with Mervyn, Andy, Victor, Matt, Hilda, and Joe. Hilda was a great example of a Trebatum basketball game.

Michelle Weaver
Randy Welsh
Lori Whitman
Charles Woodman
Tom Williams
Jeff Wilson

Kathy Wirt
Melinda Wise
Greg Woodberry
John Wood
Camille Woodhick

Lille Nyman
Carlton Yoder
Summer Yoder
Candy Yoder

Darryl Yoder
Dave Yoder
James Yoder
Lee Yoder

Lexi Yoder
Mark Yoder
Sue Yoder
Jim Young

NOT PICTURED

Dianne Bradley
Kystal Burke
Scott Cripe
Hanno Ellis
Kathy Ellis
Jeff Grubert
Mark Hall
Brian Long

Thomas Mann
Jeff A. Miller
Bob Nickerson
Bob Podzinski
Charles Fortson
Melissa H. Chapman
Ricky D. Johnson
Robert Yoder

FACULTY

Ellen Augustine
Leonard Beechey
Phil Berkey
Verna Boock
Chris Collins
Mike Frizzo

Harriet Green
Jan Harms
Philip Hanger
Kathy Hordensch
Kathy Hoyt
Rhonda Jones

Jinda Kaminsky
Donald Layton
Laurie Longfellow
Mike McGraw Dennis McGraw
Bill McQuinnick

Gary Maults
Gail Mottley
Helen Mumma
Theresa Nutman
Irv Pratt
Gerald Rastler

Giving people, especially students, a long steady look is sometimes part of a principal's job. As Mr. James McGraw demonstrates.

Rex Reed
James Rhodes
Dan Shroyer

Dana Stadler
Nickolas Kater
Bruce Szabo

Jeannine Talley
Sherry Trunk
Ken Vontampieri
Mary Urey
Don Welch

Susan Wright
Paul Wilkey
David Wilkey
Mary Zimmer
Gordon Kaufman

Even teachers need time to relax! Mrs. Lynn Thomson uses the teacher's lounge for just that purpose.

NOT PICTURED

Linda Grant
Heleen Katz
James Rhodes
Lynn Thomas

The Spirit Week tug-of-war contest included the teachers this year. Here, some of the faculty is shown "pulling" for the Banders—or may be just attempting to stay clean.

After the library experienced a minor electrical problem, it was Harry Prough to the rescue once again.

Neither rain nor sleet nor the snow of winter can stop Charlie Miller from keeping the school's sidewalks clear.

It requires a group effort to make lunch for over six hundred people every day as Maria Cox, Rita Frye, Edna Hochstetler, and Cora Miller demonstrate.

Meals and Maintenance

Although it's been said many times before, it's still true: that the people behind the scenes are the people who make things happen. Whether it's cooking for a school full of students, fixing lights, plowing snow, mowing grass, or simply sweeping halls, it's all a necessary part of the proper functioning of a school. Northridge is blessed with people who combine efficiency and friendliness. These people help to create a pleasant atmosphere in which we function. They enjoy working here and it's evident through their patience in dealing with gum wrappers and papers in the halls, food fights, and even buggies on the roof. They always provide service with a smile — and they even do windows!

The assembly line style is often the most efficient way to get things done. Here, Kim's Yoder, Cory Miller, Marla Cox, and Mottie Miller work quickly to heat the student stampede to the cafeteria.

The mops, brooms, and trash can are certainly familiar sights in the halls of Northridge and Donna Zigler's cheerful presence greets everyone a slight bend.

COMMUNITY

Inflation— a word used by community members meaning the economy is stagnant and inflation is out of control.

Things got rough three or four years ago. I don't mind saying that students at the University of Minnesota, both in and out of campus, began to get a little disgruntled over $1.40 per gallon and the price of a quart butter doubled.

In an attempt to pump the economy back in and put the nation back on its feet, President Reagan promised that our country would find its National Product and encourage people to come out from the comfort and shelter of their homes and go to college to find some good jobs. Large government-backed student loans.

But try as they might, economists have been a difficult time running the country. Take for instance the depression of 1929.

Community action was slow to show up. In gold towns and the farms for all kinds of local crops.

This beautiful scene is a typical one for the University community of the 1920s and 1930s.

“Good Luck”

Class of 1981”

A*BITIBI-PRICE

13168 US 20

825-5845

Middlebury is Our Hometown, and We're Proud of It.

COACHMEN INDUSTRIES, INC.

P.O. Box 30 • Middlebury Indiana 46540 • 219 825-5821

Gonderman Coin Shop

Pierre Moran Mall

293-5442

The Bonnet Motel

12471 US 20

825-2288

First State Bank of Middlebury

Main St.

825-2166

Member FDIC

Hawkins
Softwater Co.

SR 13 N
825-2645

 Keene Products, Inc.
Subsidiary of C.T.S. Corp.

CONGRATULATIONS
CLASS OF 1981

SR 13 N

825-2161

12562 US 20
825-2092

Bill's Collision Service

US 20 and CR 22
825-9116

YOUR THIRST FOR KNOWLEDGE,
WE'RE SATISFYING
YOUR THIRST FOR REFRESHMENT

Coca Cola

320 N. Main St.
533-2060

CONCORD WORLD TRAVEL

3701 S. Main St. Elkhart

875-6561

Das Dutchman Essenhaus

13599 US 20

825-9471

Middlebury Conoco

South Main Street
825-2035

The Denim Den

CR. 16 Northridge Drive 825-5651

Don's Auto

12462 U.S. 20

825-5441

FARVER LUMBER CO. INC.

Shipshewana

768-4176

First State Insurance

117 S. Main St.
Middlebury
825-5458

GOLD BOND SERVICE

Goshen Implement Co.

Farm Equipment Sales and Service

404 S. 11th

533-3761

The Goshen News

114 South Main Goshen, IN 533-2151

Karch Lumber Company

Kindy Inc.

"Sales backed by service since 1946"

216 N. Main
Goshen

ZENITH SYSTEM 3

533-7140

Kline's

Across From Courthouse, Downtown
Goshen

LFM Wholesale Dist.

Aloe Vera Herbs Health Foods

226 S. Main Goshen

MAX MYERS MOTORS

MIDDLEBURY GRAIN CO.

Middlebury Grain and Elevator Co.

Berry St.
825-2770

MIDDLEBURY

PLBG.- HTG.- ELECT.

13025 CR 22
and US 20

825-2875

KOHLER OF KOHLER

Plumbing Fixtures

LIFE — HEALTH — FIRE — AUTO — WORK COMP. — LIABILITY

MILLER

INSURANCE AGENCY

COMPLETE INSURANCE SERVICE

PHONE 825-2050
K. MARION MILLER

P. O. BOX 488
MIDDLEBURY, IND. 46540

Newell's

201 S. Main Goshen
533-2290

Authorized Radio Shack
Dealer

New Life

BOOK & MUSIC STORE

Books Music Supplies

Richard and Ruby Baugh
(219) 825-9401

P.O. Box 835
101 So. Main St.
Marengo, IN 46640

Penguin Point

533-6222
601 E. Madison
Goshen

Congratulations NHS Graduates!

S. Main St.
825-9529

Pete's Parts Haus

Pizza inn.

"Dine in or Carry Out"

Pizza
Spaghetti

Lasagna Ravioli

533-2594

Charter and Tour Service

Shoup Buses

P. O. Box 271
825-9405

THE RAIDER DRIVE-INN

9 A.M.
8 A.M. Sunday Only

825-2880

10 P.M.

State Road 13, North
Middlebury, Indiana

(Self Service — Call ☐ Orders — Pick up Window)

Come as you are and eat in your car, in our Dining room, or in our picnic area, by the Beautiful Little Elkhart River.

Smucker Drugs

111 S. Main St.
825-2485

Sportsman's Enterprises

1126 Johnson St.
Elkhart
264-7315

TOM'S STANDARD SERVICE

South Main St.
Middlebury
825-5040

Troyer's Garage

12514 US 20
825-9344

Troyer Manufacturing

16608 US 20 — R. 7

Goshen
Phone: 825-2254

132 South Main Goshen Indiana 46576
219-532-3744

Commercial • Industry • Appl. • Promo • Record

VARN'S & HOOVER HARDWARE

Main St.

825-2705

PHONE 319 - 625-2565
618 S. MAIN ST.
MIDDLEBURY, VT. 05752

Vic's Home Made Ice Cream

PACKAGED DESSERTS

RUTH A. HAND-PAINTER CHINA & JEWELRY
V.C. RUTH-HODLEY

Westside Furniture

711 W. Lincoln

533-9545

Yoder's

Shipshewana Hardware

State Road 5 South

Phone: 768-4163

"Serving You is Our Ultimate Goal"

Patrons

Berman's Sporting Goods
123 S. Main Elkhart
293-8765

Fox Jewelers
3701 S. Main Elkhart
875-6142

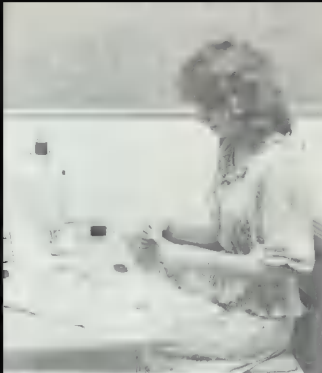

Gohn Bros. Manufacturing
Main St.
825-2400

Goshen Glass and Mirror
113 W. Washington Goshen
533-0594

Miller Funeral Home
200 S. Main
825-2930

Olympia Candy Kitchen
136 N. Main Goshen
533-5040

Snyder's Men's Shop
126 S. Main Goshen
533-5630

In Advanced Clothing, Baby Yoda prepares her pattern for the blouse she will be making.

Freshly painted in green with gold lettering, the familiar water tower hasn't lost its same-

Ghost Towns

When the gold rush ended, it left many people with crushed spirits and empty hands. While some did strike it rich, many people left their shattered dreams of wealth behind in the desolate ghost towns. Buildings once buzzing with prospectors and excitement were left standing in dusty silence, and the gold fever disappeared as quickly as it had arrived.

The weight room is a popular place, especially for boys like Paul Collier who often want to know how much they can lift.

After working for Milder Dymit for four or five years, Mahalla is well acquainted with duties.

The Difference

Not all gold rushes end in bitter disappointment. The difference is where one looks for the gold. The NHS gold rush left everyone richer. There may have been "ghost towns" — like the cancelled Green and Gold Revue; but there were new things added. New ideas, new activities, new people. Pride, spirit, determination, and persistence reaped victories, honors, satisfaction, and a sense of accomplishment. It left behind, not a ghost town, but the aftermath of a glorious disease that is often forgotten, but never really gone.

When the yearbooks finally arrive, a popular time-consuming activity is among them, and the lobby is a good place to find people to sign them.

During the summer the Pungkievine carried tourists on a sightseeing tour from Middlebury to Shupabewane, although it now runs in silence.

Baseball fans gather at Elkhorn Memorial for the Sectionals as Northridge goes against Mithowaka.

